LOWELL REVIVES SPIRIT OF '76 IN FITTING OBSERVANCE OF INDEPENDENCE DAY

Great Crowds Throng South Common to Patronize Midway, Enjoy Band Music and Marvel at Beauty of Municipal Fireworks Program—Active But Sane Celebration, Free From Serious Accidents or Disastrous Fires

Surging midway multitudes, resplendent cannon crackers, raucous-sounding barkers, illuminated skies, hilarious choruses of buoyant youth—the Fourth of July, the spirit of '76 transmittal to the present generation—all have come and gone leaving only pleasant reminiscences of a glorious "night before" and a magnified continuation of mirth and gaiety on the following day and night, to tell the story of Lowell's 1923 immortalization of the Declaration of Independence.

SUMMER PLAYGROUNDS, BOON TO CHILDREN, TO OPEN FOR SEASON NEXT MONDAY

The summer playgrounds, under the supervision of John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks, and Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools, will open next Monday for the summer season.

The playgrounds this year will be much the same as last year with park department instructors in charge of the outdoor work and teachers from the school department in charge of cooking, sewing and shop-work classes held in conjunction with the recreational work.

The playgrounds this year will be on the South and South commons and at Shedd park, Akron street playground, Ayer field, Middlesex village playground, Richmond avenue and Fayette street playgrounds, Washington park and at the Charles W. Morse, Abraham Lincoln, Moody, Greenhills, Varnum, Butler and Bartlett schools.

NEW CITY AMBULANCE SHOWING PROGRESS

The beautiful blue Packard automobile which was used last year by the mayor's department, will soon be seen on the streets as an ambulance. Early this year Mayor Donovan felt he could get along without this machine, and as the city needed a new ambulance, he decided to have it converted into such a service car. The Sawyer Carriage Co. was awarded the contract early in May for building the new body and placing it on the Packard chassis.

Today the ambulance body is on the chassis but is in an unfinished state, although an observer readily may see that the new ambulance will be one of which the city may well be proud. The interior furnishings of the body are not in place, nor is the windshield, the driver's compartment, or the mudguards. Carpenters and body-workers are working steadily on it every day and it is expected that the machine will be ready to turn over to the city in about two weeks.

FOUR TRAPPED IN HOTEL FIRE

Score of Others Rescued by Police in McKeesport—
Life Nets Used

Firemen Also Rescue Eight
Families in Tenement Fire
in Buffalo

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 4.—Four persons were burned to death today when fire swept through the Schmidt hotel at McKeesport. Six guests were injured, two seriously.

A score of men, women and children, trapped on upper floors, were rescued by police; others leaped into life nets.

Eight Families Rescued

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 5.—Policemen and firemen carried to safety through smoke-clogged corridors, members of eight families who had slept while fire swept through an unoccupied floor above them in a three-story frame building this morning. More than 40 persons were assisted from the building. Some of the children were asleep when they reached the street in the arms of firemen. None was injured.

WAFFLES AND TENT GO UP IN FLAMES

At 11:20 o'clock last night, with only 40 minutes to go before the South Common midway curtain was due to fall, the concession stand for the manufacture and sale of waffles, located near the wading pool, went up in flames. For a few minutes it looked as if a serious conflagration might result, but bystanders aided the proprietor in throwing water and sand on the fire, and it was snuffed out on the spot where it originated.

"I wouldn't have sold very many waffles, anyway," philosophically remarked the concession holder, and added, "this makes my getaway easier."

Massachusetts May Have Only Half of Its Normal Supply of Coal in the Winter Months

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 5.—The Massachusetts joint special coal investigating committee, after spending eight days in visiting the anthracite district in Pennsylvania, where it conferred with miners and operators, and in conferences with federal officials in Washington, today made public its observations and conclusions after a careful study of the information which had been collected. The committee, which was the first legislative body, either state or federal, to visit the anthracite mines in order to make its observations and obtain its information at first hand, reports as follows:

The production of anthracite coal during the early months of the present year has been greater than in any similar period in the history of the industry, but in order to provide sufficient anthracite of domestic sizes to meet all demands, a substantially continuous production is required. The wage contract between the operators and miners expires on August 31st. Within a week the negotiations for a new wage contract will begin, at which time the miners will present new and serious demands, which were adopted on June 29 at the 19-strike district convention in Scranton, representing 155,000 miners in the anthracite fields, Districts 1, 7 and 8, United Mine Workers of America.

The most important of these demands call for an increase of 20 per cent in the contract wage; $2 a day increase for men paid by the day; a two-year contract with full recognition of the union; uniformity and equalization of all day rates; the eight-hour day for all men employed in and about the mines; that where the miner is paid by the car for coal mined, the system be changed so as to provide that the miner shall be paid by weight.

The operators are certain to resist these demands, particularly as regards the wage increase. It is thought that they will not only decline to grant an increase in the wage scale, but will demand a decrease. The demands on both sides will doubtless be put forward in part for trading purposes. But, however this may be, a long period of negotiating will inevitably follow, and what will happen if negotiations run beyond August 31, the date of expiration of the old contract, cannot be foretold. When this question was brought up at the miners' convention, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, who presided, declared it was a matter that could be left to the "sagacity and good judgment of the officers."

Much will depend on whether a majority of the officers of the United Mine Workers can hold their men, or whether a radical group, led by Rinaldo Cappellini, recently elected president of District 1, which comprises 70,000 members, will control the organization.

Biggest Fiasco in History of Modern Pugilism—Kearns Minus About $50,000 of Guarantee—Gibbons and Promoters Have Hopes of Realizing Tidy Sum on Moving Pictures—Return Match Already Started

SHELBY, Mont., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The frenzy of excitement subsiding Shelby sat down today to count its losses.

On the debit side of the ledger this little Montana town, which had its day yesterday as the light center of the world, must write down a deficit of approximately $100,000.

It bought the world's heavyweight championship battle to which 1282 paid admission. There was an outlay of $210,000 for the titleholder; $200,000 for promotion and $85,000 for an arena.

With the exception of salvage on the huge amphitheatre estimated to be about $25,000 approximately $201,155 in gate receipts from which federal taxes of $22,418.50 must be deducted, according to figures made public here by Charles A. Rasmussen, Montana collector of internal revenue, the entire investment was a dead loss.

Emotionally for Shelby, the fight was an outstanding success. The town wanted Gibbons to stay with the champion 15 rounds. They saw him do it.

Several thousand, a few minutes before the fight started, crashed through the fence surrounding the arena, and swelled the attendance at the bout to a total estimated at 25,000. But their

LIQUOR POURING IN FROM CANADA FASTER THAN FEDERAL MEN CAN PUT STOP TO IT

NEW YORK, July 5.—Liquor is pouring over the Canadian border faster than prohibition agents can stop it. R. Q. Merrick, divisional prohibition field chief for New York and New Jersey admitted today.

Thirty-three automobiles loaded with illicit liquor from Canada, were captured in June by northern New York forces with headquarters in Malone, he declared, admitting that many cars safely entered the state for want of a force big enough to stop them.

"No one will deny that rum running is going on at the Canadian border, but its extent is exaggerated," he asserted, "I admit that many newspaper stories about the illicit traffic are true."

Belgians Impose Severe Penalties
DUISBURG, July 5. (By the Associated Press).—The wounding of a Belgian sentry near the bridge where last Saturday's disastrous explosion occurred, has increased the penalties imposed upon this city. With the exception of horse-drawn vehicles carrying merchandise and food, only pedestrians are allowed on the streets. The curfew hour has been brought forward to 6 o'clock in the evening. One German was killed and three wounded by Belgian sentries yesterday for refusing to halt after curfew.

School Committee to Meet
Tonight — Other City
Hall News

That the doctors and nurses in attendance at the first aid tent maintained on the South common over the holiday under the auspices of the board of health, were kept busy, can be attested to by the statement issued at the board of health office this morning.

There were forty-nine cases treated, but fortunately none was of a serious nature. There was one case, however, that attracted considerable attention. It was of a boy 12 years of age, who was suffering from "alcoholic indigestion." The nurses learned that he had been given a drink of liquor by an unknown man and when taken into the first aid tent he was in a semi-conscious state. The attending physician and nurses worked over him and administered antidotes, which finally had satisfactory results. The police were notified, but no trace of the man could be found.

The cases attended to in the tent were as follows: Eye cases, 4; lost children, 27; burns, 6; injury from rusty nail, 1; lacerated wound, 1; abrasions, 2; alcoholic indigestion, 1; acute indigestion, 2; nervous shock, 1; and infected cuts, 1.

Dr. Finnegan, Dr. Drury and Dr. Johnson were on duty at the tent day and night and were assisted by a corps of nurses of the health and school departments.

The board of health officials wish to extend thanks to all who assisted in making the first aid tent a success, particularly to the doctors, nurses, police officers, members of Battery B and to local hospitals for the use of cots.

School Committee Meeting

An adjourned meeting of the school board will be held this evening and it is expected that considerable business will be transacted. In all probability the election of kindergarten teachers will take place and it was stated today there is a possibility of five other teachers being chosen. Registration for the summer school will be conducted at the Green school is progressing and the school will open next Monday.

Children's Summer Camp

Several boys and girls registered at the board of health office today for the summer camp for undernourished children, which will open next Monday. The camp will be conducted on land off Varnum avenue and registration will close Saturday at noon. The two first weeks will be for boys and the next two for girls and there will be accommodations for over 100 members of each sex.

WEIRD WAR MACHINES

Craft to Fly Like Hawks and Dive Like Seals, in Next War

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 5.—In the next war there will be craft that fly like hawks, swim like seals, and dive like seals. In approved Jules Verne style, according to a British military official who is in Australia on a secret mission. Behind closed doors of laboratories and in secluded workshops, says this authority, who desires that his name for the present remain undisclosed, there has begun, with government funds, the strangest and weirdest battle of wits that has ever been embarked upon.

"Thanks that swim, great metal sea destroyers that fly, unseen air machines which dive silently beneath the water to strike themselves," he says, "and crews who must learn to live and fight in three different elements (land, sea or air) are all necessities of the future." He states that Great Britain is building a giant airplane which clears the surface of the water prior to taking water and develops 3,000 horse-power, and is also constructing the latest flying boat in the world. This winged vessel is intended to go out with the fleet for long periods.

"The hull of this new flying monster," says the British army man, "when resting on the water will ride out rough seas. It will taxi along the water like a surface ship, or speed through the air. It is to have anchors, propellers, riding lights, and all the equipment of the ordinary vessel of the sea, while its crew within the hull will eat and sleep on board just like the crew of an ordinary naval craft. The new machine will fight like a tank on earth, will be a super-destroyer on water, and climb to give combat in the air, and when concealment is required it will fold its wings, seal its hull and dive like a submarine beneath the surface of the sea. Science is striving to make these craft both silent and invincible."

FRENCH BAPTISTS PICNIC ON FOURTH

Members of the French Baptist church in West Sixth street enjoyed their annual outing at Willow Dale yesterday. The affair, which was largely attended, proved very enjoyable for all concerned. The trip to the resort was made in automobiles, which left West Sixth street shortly after 8 o'clock. Athletic events of all sorts were carried out at the grove and at noon a basket dinner was enjoyed on the green. The arrangements were in charge of Rev. A. R. Perron and Leonard Belanger.

GARBAGE CAN

The garbage can should always be kept closely covered.

UNOCCUPIED HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

The first fire attributed to the Fourth of July celebration occurred shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday evening when an unoccupied house at 300 Rogers street, the property of the Edward Cawley estate, caught fire presumably from a firecracker that had been thrown through an open or broken window. The fire evidently smoldered for some time before being discovered for when the apparatus arrived in answer to box 825, the fire was in the partitions and had spread through to the roof. The blaze was put under control in a short time but it was not until 10:30 that the recall was sounded.

The loss is estimated in the vicinity of $2000.

FIRE REMOVES OLD PIGGERY BUILDINGS

The old piggery at the Chelmsford street hospital, the existence of which has been a stain upon the reputation of the hospital and the subject of complaints from residents of the neighborhood for some time, is gone. Supt. Joseph E. Gormley has long desired to get rid of these buildings and finally decided that the "night before" would be the proper occasion for their removal. Shortly after dark Tuesday evening he gave the necessary orders and the piggery buildings were soon a mass of flames and formed one bonfire that was perfectly satisfactory to the neighbors of the hospital and to the inmates as well.

Every household should have a shoe cleaning outfit and the children should be taught to use it.

COAT DRESSES
Broadcloth coat dresses are to be very popular this fall, style authorities believe. Metal trimmings and touches of bright color are featured on them.

How many "Typhoid Marys" are in this crowd? Thousands of perfectly well people are unknowingly carriers and spreaders of disease germs

Crowds Breed Contagion

HUMAN beings were meant to live in the open, guarded by the prophylactics of sunshine and pure air.

There is always danger of contagion in crowds—in factories, elevators, street cars, theatres.

Doctors and great health institutes have proved that most disease germs pass from one person to another by actual contact. Things which many people touch are always dangerous—car straps, public telephones, door knobs, books, soiled money, stair rails. Germs are carried by hands to mouth, nose or food.

In every crowd there are almost certainly several "carriers" of disease germs.

A "carrier" is a person who is perfectly well but who formerly had a mild, undiscovered case of diphtheria, influenza, measles, or some other illness. The person soon recovered and became immune to the disease but the germs multiplied by millions, harmless to the "carrier" but of deadly menace to everyone else. "Carriers" move about in every class of society. There are thousands of them.

There is only one protection from this danger—perfect, scientific cleanliness.

If you will purify hands and face frequently with a true health soap, especially after contacts with crowds, there is less likelihood of the germs entering your body through mouth or nose or passing on to your wife and children.

Lifebuoy Protects

Lifebuoy is a true health soap. Its creamy, copious lather releases a wonderful antiseptic ingredient which goes down deep in every pore, purifying—combating the menace of dirty things.

Soap cannot be made that is more pure, more bland, more beautifying than Lifebuoy. Its rich, nourishing oils of palm fruit and coconut keep the skin soft, free from blemishes—and purified.

You know Lifebuoy is a health soap by its wholesome, pungent odor. The odor vanishes quickly—but the protection remains.

Mothers—you who are "health doctors" to your families—guard those you love by placing a cake of Lifebuoy at every place where there is running water.

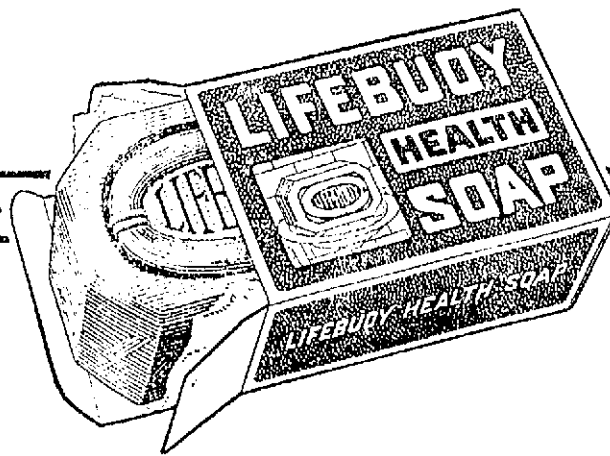

Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

The Health Doctor says:

To keep well—don't touch things which many other hands have touched—keep hands away from nose, mouth or food—PURIFY hands as often as possible with Lifebuoy Health Soap—when you get up, when you retire, and especially before eating or preparing food.

DEVOTE MANY YEARS

Couple for 70 Years Have
Given Their Lives to
Passion Play Service

OBERAMMERGAU, July 5.—Jakob and Mathilde Rutz have just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, one more milestone in two lives which have been devoted to the Passion Play for 70 years. Rutz was the village smithy of Oberammergau until age pulled him away from the forge, and is the father-in-law of Anton Lang, the renowned portrayer of the life of Christ.

In 1850, as a babe of three, Rutz took his original part in Oberammergau's famous play. He was then cast as Adam's son in one of the five Testament tableaux which feature the performances. Ten years later he appeared as an alto soloist and in 1870 was chief assistant to the Passion Play prologist and choir leader, Johannes Diemer. During the performances of 1880, Diemer again held this combination position but Rutz, often substituted for him and in 1890 replaced the leader entirely.

For centuries the Diemer family has furnished the choir leader Rutz being the only person ever to break in on this otherwise uninterrupted succession.

In 1870, when the Passion Play season had to be interrupted, Rutz was called to the colors for the Franco-Prussian war. It was an ironical coincidence that he was billeted during the hostilities with a French family which had once been his guests at Oberammergau while attending the play.

Another Rutz devotion to the Passion Play has expressed itself principally in incessantly caring for many of the thousands of tourists who trek this way every ten years. One of her two sons lives here and took a prominent part in last year's play; the other lives in Munich and is therefore not eligible to the cast. Her daughter Mathilde, the wife of Anton Lang, made a name for herself in former years as a Passion Play artist.

Rutz continues active in public life, as a member of the village government and one of the Passion Play executive committee.

NEW GERMAN ARMY LIST CAUSES BRIEF

BERLIN, July 5.—Germany's first army list since 1911 has just been issued, and its diminutive proportions bear striking contrast to the fat volumes of pre-war days. It is the first time that one book has included the military forces of all Germany.

The shades of Pücher of the older von Moltke, and of other illustrious leaders, who made the name of German militarism a thing of awe, must shudder at the descriptions that have occurred since their day.

Up to 1914, the peacetime regular army of the fatherland embraced some 400,000 men and officers, besides a host of reserves. During the late hostilities, this strength swelled at one time to more than 8,000,000. Then came the Treaty of Versailles, and at one sweep clipped the German army to 100,000. Ten thousand of this dwarfed array were permitted to be officers and members of the administrative personnel.

Gone are the general staff and all the high training institutions so long the pride of Prussia. Four small service schools are permitted, and these for officer candidates only. Gone, too, are whole branches of the service: The foot-artillery, aviation, and the aircraft construction, the railway troops, and the great technical organization which attended to the soldiers' welfare and looked after the men on leave.

Princes and others of the higher nobility have completely disappeared from the officers' corps, and there are not as many barons, counts, and sons on as in the days of yore, a muster roll would sound strangely different from those of a decade ago.

Many of the "old guard" are reading the new list with tears in their eyes. Many a socialist and republican is reading it with a smile, as he recalls the hardships of the "matted hair" militarism in the old days when an emperor tenanted the great palace looking down Unter den Linden.

FRECKLE FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots.
How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-Face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Barely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

BANDITS PAY WITH LIVES FOR CRIMES

MEXICO CITY, July 5.—Summary vengeance has been exacted by the government for the attack on the Inter-oceanic railway passenger train June 8 between Amozoc and Senorel, near Puebla, in which two lives were lost. Five Indians, two of them residents of Amozoc, have been shot after summary court martials and 12 others, whose names were given by those executed as members of the band of robbers, are being hanged through the mountains by numerous detachments of federal troops.

Photographs of the five dead robbers.

taken while they were falling under the bullets of the firing squad at the edge of the graves dug for them, have been distributed throughout the Malintzi mountain region as a warning against further similar outrages.

The fact that the Amozoc holdup was the first to mar the record of the Oregon administration for months prompted the government to take extreme steps.

EX-KAISER DOESN'T LIKE TO PAY TAXES

AMSTERDAM, July 5.—William Hohenzollern is quarreling with the Dutch over the payment of taxes. He is now engaged in a dispute with the municipal authorities of Doorn over the question of local assessments. The former German emperor refuses to pay, contending that the municipality is not entitled to its demand because he came to Holland under compulsion.

The Doorn city fathers maintain that he came there voluntarily, and have decided to enforce the law with retrospective effect.

The municipal council of Amerongen, where the former emperor resided the first year of his exile, has not been slow in following up the decision of the Doorn council, and proposes to submit its claim for arrears in taxes.

SOUTHERN NEGROES MIGRATING NORTH

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 5.—South Carolina, long a state in which the negro greatly outnumbered the white, is experiencing a decrease in its colored population that is gradually gaining in volume according to railroad and other officials in position to observe. One railroad official recently estimated that fully 22 per cent of the negro population of the state had left for northern points, and a newspaper in a recent article, estimated that for the first time in more than 100 years the white population of the state exceeded the negro.

Not only have scores of thousands of negroes left the state during the past year or more, but the number of women and children leaving is increasing, railroad officials state. At first only males left for the north. Now, however, many of those who went to the industrial centers early in the exodus are sending for their wives and families while many others are taking their women and children with them. Columbia apparently is a concentration point for considerable surrounding territory. Practically every day 100 or more leave from the railroad stations in this city, according to S. H. McLean, district passenger agent for the Southern railway.

"The negroes themselves are not inclined to discuss their plans to any great extent and make very little show in leaving," said Mr. McLean. "They usually do not buy their tickets at the uptown offices, waiting instead until a few minutes before train time when they purchase a ticket and then board the train and are gone."

The majority of the negroes now leaving the state apparently are going to Pennsylvania with Philadelphia and Pittsburgh appearing to receive the majority, although many are going to Detroit, New York, Baltimore, Boston and Dayton.

Massachusetts May Be Short on Coal

Much will also depend on whether the operators and the representatives of the miners meet without delay in joint conference for the purpose of collective bargaining, and whether their meetings are conducted in a spirit of mutual accommodation at all times mindful of the public interest. If both sides take up the issue in this spirit there will be no strike; the public will suffer no hardship and operators and miners alike will benefit by continuity of production.

Present indications, as observed by the committee and from information obtained from operators, miners and in government circles, are that in any event there will be a decline, if not an actual stoppage in operations, after August 31. Operators and miners alike believe that if there is a cessation of operations, it will be for no such duration as last year, when the mines were closed for nearly six months, and that the ultimate result will be a slight increase in the cost of coal to the consumer and a scarcity, although to a lesser degree of severity than that of last winter. Federal officials, while viewing the situation with deep concern, declare that no stone will be left unturned to prevent a cessation of operations.

Anthracite production for the first four months of the calendar year reached 42,503,000 tons, which is almost double the output during the corresponding period of last year when there was a large falling off because of the strike and more than 5,000,000 tons above the average production for the last ten years. These figures do not mean so much, however, when it is taken into consideration that apart from team sizes there was no coal in storage at the mines at the beginning of the year and practically no coal in storage in the yards of the dealers or in the bins of the consumers—a situation without a parallel since the anthracite strike of 1902. In spite of this large production, the mines have been unable to put any coal in storage and the committee answered that as fast as the coal is being produced at the present time, it is being shipped out, with the exception of the steam sizes which heretofore have only been utilized to a very limited extent for domestic fuel.

The committee found that, based upon the distribution figures of the past five years, Massachusetts is slightly ahead of its average receipts.

For instance, the committee was informed that the Hudson company—one of the largest companies shipping anthracite to New England, and the largest shipper over the Boston & Maine and Boston & Albany railroads, has obtained 89 per cent of its expected production since April 1, the beginning of the coal year. The company has been unable to reach the production it had anticipated because of a labor shortage. This company has shipped 54 per cent of the normal supply to Massachusetts, based on the expected production, which shows that Massachusetts received more than its proportionate allotment.

On April 1 of the present year, Massachusetts had only 131,887 tons of domestic anthracite on hand, as compared with 126,611 on April 1 of a year ago. During April and May, Massachusetts received 1,015,935 tons, according to the figures compiled by the State Commissioner on Necessaries of Life, and the deliveries amounted to 573,709 tons, leaving a balance on hand, as of June 1, amounting to 324,132 tons.

During the coal year from April 1, 1921, to April 1, 1922, the total deliveries in Massachusetts amounted to 5,243,415 tons. Assuming that receipts during June, July and August this year will be at the same rate as during April and May of this year, Massachusetts can expect 1,500,000 more tons of anthracite before September 1. Adding the stock on hand on April 1, 131,887 tons, to the receipts for April and May of 1,015,935 tons, and the expected receipts for June, July and August of 1,500,000 tons, brings the total of 2,547,822 tons as the probable supply on hand in Massachusetts at the time of the expiration of the wage contract between the operators and miners. It will be seen that this supply will represent barely one half of the minimum requirements of the state for the winter months.

If after September 1 there is a decline in production, or a complete cessation of operations for any length of time, the people of Massachusetts will have to depend in part upon the use of substitutes if they are to keep their homes warm. As the committee has observed the situation and studied the problem, it has become impressed with the fact that the question of substitutes is rapidly becoming a paramount question in respect to the anthracite fuel supply of the year, respects to devote much of its attention to it. The committee has already been looking into the possibilities of securing screened and sized bituminous, which can come only by rail, has already inquired into the use of steam sizes of anthracite for domestic heating, and will devote attention to coke, oil and other fuels.

Steam sizes of anthracite coal, such as buckwheat and birdseye, have heretofore been used almost entirely for industrial purposes. In the mining of coal there must be a large quantity of small particles, particularly as the coal goes through the breakers. The committee is informed that every 100 tons of anthracite mined averages 63 tons of steam sizes. Out of every 100 tons of anthracite produced, there are, for other local use, there is consumed about 10 per cent of all the anthracite produced. This 70 per cent consists for the most part of the finest screenings of the team sizes. Out of every 100 tons of anthracite produced, there are, for other local use, there is consumed about 10 per cent of all the anthracite produced. This 70 per cent consists for the most part of the finest screenings of the team sizes. Out of every 100 tons of anthracite produced, there are, for other local use, there is consumed about 10 per cent of all the anthracite produced.

It costs the mine operators as much to produce the steam sizes of anthracite as it does to produce the domestic sizes. The market for these sizes comes into direct competition with bituminous, which is much more plentiful and can be much more cheaply mined and prepared for market. The result is that for the most part these sizes must be sold at less than the cost of production and often at less than the cost of labor alone. For instance, the Hudson Coal company has been mentioned: This company sells a "range" coal at the mines at $3.29 a ton, buckwheat coal No. 1 for $4.15 a ton, birdseye for $4.60 a ton, and coal dust for 54 cents a ton. Range coal is a coal for domestic use, being a combination of chestnut and pea sizes. Buckwheat No. 1 is the largest of the regular steam sizes. The cost of the labor on each ton of coal at the mines is stated to be about $4.00 a ton.

It has been found that these steam sizes of coal which sell for considably less than the domestic sizes can be burned in certain types of heaters—a question which the committee is making a thorough study of—and that they can be burned in almost any type of heater by being mixed with larger sizes of anthracite, or with coke. If consumers, in obtaining their coal, would put in a mixture of steam sizes to mix with the domestic sizes, or to use in burning their fires at night, they would make a saving on their fuel bills and at the same time release more of the domestic sizes. In times of emergency such action becomes a patriotic duty in order to make possible an equitable distribution of the domestic sizes.

As to the so-called Massachusetts "pure coal law" which was passed by the last legislature upon recommendation of Governor Chandler H. Cox, the committee made extensive inquiries to find, first, if the law was thoroughly understood by the operators and secondly, if the law would result in preventing shipment of anthracite into the state.

The committee found no evidence that to date the law had prevented any shipments of coal into Massachusetts by reputable companies or operators. The only persons of the operators interviewed seemed to be as to whether some local official might attempt to unreasonably enforce the law. It was pointed out by the committee, however, that coal could only be confiscated under the law if found to be "adulterated" and then only with the approval of the state department of public health.

One company operator in speaking of the Massachusetts pure coal law went so far as to say: "I have every sympathy for the people of Massachusetts and understand exactly the situation which prompted the passage of the pure coal law. I saw some of the stuff that was shipped into your state as coal when the shipper knew that it was unburnable. In my opinion the anthracite of Pennsylvania should be ashamed of itself for allowing a situation which made it possible to pass such a law. As to the men who shipped such stuff, they are the men who bring discredit upon the industry and upon the reputable operators, but, like in all other industries, they are an extremely small minority.

It is impossible in this brief statement to bring out the mass of information obtained by the committee, or the many observations which it made during its trip which included the inspection of three collieries and a visit down into a mine where the miners were seen at their work 120 feet below the surface of the ground. Years ago the fact that it was the members of the United States Coal Commission, the first legislative body to ever visit the coal fields as a body was widely commented upon and it left the impression that Massachusetts wanted to know first hand the entire situation before attempting to discuss it.

The committee spent eight days in its investigation and conference. It traveled through the hottest days of the summer, with the temperature ranging from 90 to 95 most of the time. In one working day of sixteen hours it started from Wilkesbarre at 5 a. m., inspected two collieries, spent two hours in a mine 450 feet beneath the surface of the ground, walked two and a half miles in that mine, interviewed men in Scranton, returned to Wilkesbarre, left by train and reached Washington on the same night, and it was not until after midnight that the members had a chance to clean the coal dust from their eyes, ears, bodies and clothes. It might be added that of its appropriation of $500, the committee has returned a balance of more than $500 into the state treasury.

The committee expresses the hope that both operators and miners will realize the importance of meeting together in friendly interchange of views never forgetting the duty they owe to the great public whom they serve.

The committee is closely watching developments and will keep the public informed of the situation from time to time. It believes that its personal contact with the operators will result in obtaining maximum shipments of anthracite during the period before the expiration of the wage contract between the operators and miners and that Massachusetts will be in a much better position to face any emergency as a result of its efforts.

The committee consists of Senators John W. Hildes of Greenfield, chairman, John H. Tibbets of Waltham, and Charles P. Howard of Reading; Representatives Henry L. Shattuck of Boston, Vice Chairman, James D. Pauley of Swampscott, William F. Thomas, Jr., of Fall River, Gustava W. Everberg of Woburn, John Mitchell of Springfield and Jean H. Drew of Boston; and Wendell D. Howie of Boston, secretary.

HOLIDAY FIRE CALLS

Barn in Wannalancit Street
Destroyed — Old Homestead in Pelham Burns

There were two fires of a disastrous nature yesterday, one in Pelham, N. H., when the old Elphinstone Wood homestead was destroyed, and the other in this city, when a barn owned by Mrs. Nellie J. Lacey in the rear of 98 Wannalancit street, was burned to the ground. Other holiday alarms were for fires of a minor nature.

The Pelham fire originated in the large attic of the building, which is owned by Henry A. and Amos E. Wood, and when discovered, flames were shooting through the roof. A general alarm was sounded through the town and assistance was summoned from Dracont, but the efforts of both the Pelham and Dracont departments and numerous volunteers proved fruitless and the set of bulldozers consisting of a large two-tonement house, barn, sheds and icehouses, was burned to the ground. Several tons of hay also were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $12,000.

The Wannalancit street fire was discovered shortly after 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning and an alarm was sent in from Box 137. When the flames arrived they found the barn ablaze and the home of Michael Dineen in Oliver street, in close proximity to the barn, being threatened. Although the barn was destroyed, the Dineen home was only slightly damaged.

Shortly before 10 o'clock last evening an alarm was sounded from Box 116 for a fire in an unoccupied house in Cross street opposite St. Patrick's home. A few minutes later another alarm was sounded from Box 113 for the same blaze. The blaze, which is believed to have been caused by a firecracker, was making great headway when the members of the department arrived and the interior of the building was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

A roof fire at 431 School street was responsible for the sounding of an alarm from Box 35 at 5:51 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At 5:53 o'clock there was an alarm from Box 115 for a blaze in an evening at 419 Moody street.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND

"Pinks First," the Marshall Neilan attraction which is showing at The Strand for three days, beginning today, was written by Hugh McNair Kahler and appeared originally in the Saturday Evening Post. It is a story of contrast between the wealthy and the poor, with the conflict revolving about the factor to separate the former from part of its riches. The "Pinks" are the members of a band of robbers which endeavor to enrich themselves unlawfully at the expense of the rich. A bank is the objective—and Waterloo of the band. When they are about to break into the bank they come across an old friend and companion who has previously turned straight. He has what they desire, a package containing the money, and a struggle ensues between them to see who will retain possession of it. We can't tell you the result. The picture does that best.

El (Hoot) Gibson in "Single Hand," is the second feature. It's a lively, vigorous western story, with the one and only Hoot at his best. You'll get action here as you never got it before. The usual comedy and Weekly, as well as musical numbers and Strand comfort combine in making the program a rare gem. See it all.

MERRIMACK SQUARE

"The Tiger's Claw," an exciting and myth story of India, with a full quota of thrills and adventure, is the feature attraction of the current program at the Merrimack Square theatre. It's a play that you can't afford to miss. The other attraction is "You Can't Beat Your Wife," a Melford production with Leatrice Joy and an all-star cast. Don't forget the Merrimack Square is always cool and comfortable.

RIALTO THEATRE

with Dorothy Dalton co-starring. In this picture Valentino gets away from the "pink-tea" hero type and does a regular sea-going, rough and ready battle. Of course, at first he is seen in the role of a young society man, a scion of wealth. He is shanghaied on a schooner that has a murderous captain. Dorothy Dalton in the part of Moran is a daughter of the sea and handles the good ship "Lady Letty" like a veteran, until it becomes a derelict and falls into the hands of the tyrannical captain.

"Whispering Palms," a beautiful love story, filmed in the Everglades of Florida and starring Gladys Hulette is the other feature for today. A good comedy is also on the bill.

James Padmore Cooper's famous American classic, "The Last of the Mohicans," directed by Maurice Tourneur is announced as the feature picture for Friday and Saturday.

Local movie fans and lovers of the drama are slated over the announcement that Eugene Brion's famous stage success, "Damaged Goods," will be shown on the Rialto screen all next week starting Monday, with the original New York cast headed by Richard Bennett.

"Damaged Goods" is described as a stirring plea for a pure life before and after marriage. Owing to the nature of the picture, it has been decided that boys and girls under 16 years of age will not be admitted during the run of the picture.

Lowell Revives Spirit of '76

magnet which attracted thousands of people, young, old and in between, to this familiar area, where the centralization of amusements found ready recognition. On the baseball field, along the sloped sidewalks and in other positions of vantage, more than 150 booths, displaying dolls, blankets, silverware and every describable novelty, did a wholesale business, while groups of frankish monstrosities in tented enclosures, claimed the attention of the curious. The hours the throng kept moving on its tour of inspection and at midnight it appeared that the entire community was participating in the joyous festivities. The men and women sales-people behind the stands bellowed continuously. They needed little ability to convince the holiday public "to take a chance," and time and again it became necessary to fill and refill the improvised structures with attractive articles.

But if the night before was memorable, yesterday and last night were more so. In the afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock in the South Common bandstand the Lowell Military band, under the direction of James Midegely, filled the air with tuneful patriotic and popular melodies while the crowd continued on its eventful itinerary through the temporary streets.

Last night at 9:15 o'clock, the celebration reached its apex when the municipal fireworks display was set off near the junction of Highland and Thorndike streets. Long before that hour, unlimited and singing thousands gathered on the common slopes to view the pyrotechnic pictures of flame that illuminated the sky for nearly an hour.

The 33rd Field Artillery band lent a musical accompaniment to the bursting pyrotechnics while thousands of pairs of hands and a roaring babel of voices evinced satisfaction with noisy applause. There were varicolored pinwheels, sky rockets and aerial bonfires, showers of flaming silver and gold, in short, a delightful affluence of inflammables, and while the display was not as elaborate as some witnessed in previous years, it evoked favorable commendation. The exhibition concluded with a miniature aerial battle with bombs hurtling in air, a sprinkling of shooting atoms of fire, a nearly-perfect replica of a battle in the clouds, a huge, resounding explosion and it was all over. Thus the municipal recognition of the day was brought to a happy ending and the exodus from the common was begun. At the approach of the midnight hour, the thinning out process was practically completed and the little tented city listened to the 12 o'clock curfew, dimmed its lights and went to bed clothed in the blankets of happy memories until another year—365 days from yesterday—comes again.

All streets leading to the common were literally choked with humanity and motor cars. The number of machines moving about the common and parked within a half-mile radius was conservatively estimated at 10,000. Surely, it seemed as if every automobile in Massachusetts was there, as well as most of those registered in New Hampshire. Police officers were stationed every 50 yards to keep the unbroken line in motion. It was the greatest traffic congestion in the history of the city.

While the carefree were enjoying themselves on the common, a first aid tent, under the jurisdiction of the board of health, was constantly awaiting the arrival of patients, the number of which was surprisingly but agreeably small. Public health nurses were in attendance every minute of the day and night, but did not have much to do. Yesterday one woman was overcome by the excitement and was given first aid treatment at the tent and several minor ailments were treated.

Extra details of police, uniformed and plain clothed, patrolled the common during the midway hours. Few arrests were made.

AMERICAN WOMEN WARY

Are Not So Anxious Now
to Marry Penniless Barons
of Europe

BERLIN, July 5.—International matchmakers, the men and women who used to do a thriving business marrying off titles and high social position to wealthy plebeians, have been hard hit by the war and the resultant financial distress. Marriage among humbler folks all over Europe has increased under the distress, but not so with the leaders of fashion.

June, the month of weddings, has not produced the large number of society weddings which always characterized the month in pre-war days. This is especially noticeable in central Europe. Fashionable churches, hotels, cafes, dressmaking shops, jewelry shops and flower shops do not show the old-time June activity.

Foreign tourists are not visiting central Europe in large numbers, and the residents of central Europe are not traveling abroad. The romances which used to begin on ocean trips are fewer and fewer. American and English women with comfortable fortunes are not wandering about as they did in old times. Travel is not so inviting as it used to be, and families from the lands of good exchange apparently have little desire to expose their daughters to the sort of tragedies which have grown out of many international marriages recently. The romances which carry with them bankrupt estates are apparently at a great discount. The uncertainty of titles to baronial possessions makes ambitious mothers hesitate. They have seen too many penniless princes and counts and barons rattling about Paris and other European capitals, trying to market their family tree.

But the professional matchmakers have not given up hope and are still active. Vienna has a number of such matrimonial agents who are hard at work, and with the revival of Vienna which has come about as the result of foreign assistance, their opportunities are improving. Vienna's old gaiety is coming back. Its fashions attract foreign women, and music-lovers flock to its open air theaters who visit Italy also go to Austria in large numbers. In Berlin commercial matchmakers are having a harder time. The decline in travel and upset political conditions work against them to a greater degree than in any of the other European capitals, and the failure of war hoards to pass away makes it difficult to do anything with principals who were enemies in the great struggle.

One professional marriage agent, a titled woman who was once a great success in her profession, is constantly seen about the prominent hotels in Berlin, and she has not lost her ability to meet nearly all promising visitors. But she has collected a commission only once in the last twelve months. The agencies which advertise extensively and arrange marriages on a strictly business basis, without social trimmings, are doing far better than the agents who specialize in aristocrats. Throughout central Europe the daily papers are filled with the advertisements of marriage agencies which describe their clients in great detail, give their financial status and requirements, leaving only the names unmentioned.

LINCOLN STATUE TO BE UNVEILED

CHICAGO, July 5.—Illinois will soon again pay honor to Abraham Lincoln through the erection of a statue of the emancipator, cast almost 30 years ago by Augustus St. Gaudens, who died shortly after the work was completed. Strange as it may seem, Chicagoans have never had an opportunity of seeing the statue, although it has been in this city almost continuously since it was cast.

While the nation honored Lincoln last year with the erection of the Lincoln Memorial at Washington, and there is a monument with a sarcophagus effect now over the final resting place of the martyred president at Springfield, the St. Gaudens statue will be the first of Lincoln to be erected in his home state.

This statue, completed in 1894, has been stored in a shelter house in Jackson park here, awaiting final action by the South park commissioners as to its location. They have about come to the conclusion to place it in Grant park, on the lake front.

The casting of the statue was made possible through a bequest of the late John C. Crawford, who made many such bequests looking toward the beautification of the city and perpetuation of the memory of the state's famous sons.

He gave $100,000 for the casting and upkeep of the statue.

The statue has been on exhibition once in New York, and again in San Francisco, but each time was returned to Chicago boxed and has never been exhibited here. It shows Lincoln in a sitting position and is said to be one of the sculptor's best work.

AUSTRIANS DRINK
MUCH LESS WINE

VIENNA, July 5.—By the Associated Press.—Wine growers and wine sellers in Austria are alarmed at a recent notable reduction in the consumption of their wares. They are loud in their complaints, and they inundate parliament with proposals for help.

The principal causes of the falling off in the consumption of wine would seem to be, first, the exorbitant prices asked by both producers and innkeepers, and second, the conditions of unemployment and half-time employment still reigning in the country. These have converted the wine lover perforce into a water drinker.

A MENACE TO LABOR

The American Federation of Labor executives are calling attention to serious developments in connection with discussions of the coming wage problems affecting the mining of anthracite coal after September 1 next.

A development approaching the sensational comes in an announcement of action by the international board of the United Mine Workers of America, the coal miners' union, of a sinister scheme, conceived in Moscow, to form a communistic organization in the southwestern coal fields of the United States, drawing to themselves the worst elements in industrial America, having for their purpose, it is alleged, first, the control, and later the destruction of the trade union organization.

The United Mine Workers declare that the band of self-styled socialistic industrial crusaders—the communists—classify themselves under the high-sounding title of the "Progressive International Committee of the United Mine Workers of America." These men, it is alleged, utterly without warrant from time to time to meet in secret convocations and amid the enthusiasm which always prevails in the adoption of resolutions, have "highly resolved" to assume control of the United Mine Workers' union and direct its affairs.

American labor, as always, leads the way in patriotic causes and this campaign on the part of the A. F. of L. to combat the Red elements that are menacing national prosperity as well as American trade unionism of the first class, is worthy of attention at this time. The warning sent out by the Federation heads shows that the developments of the month indicate that European labor is slipping away towards the Red revolutionary standards in a movement which, from this distance, looks like a rout. As the Federation official bulletin puts it, "Even the British labor delegates to the recent Hamburg congress were committed to the so-called 'Second International' viewpoint, including a pledge to support the international revolutionary strike, so-called."

American workmen, loyal to their country and its ideals, will support, of course, the recent A. F. of L. declaration that Americans are anxious to help European labor, but will not join with any organization or movement that seeks to compromise with the monstrosity of Bolshevism. That is the right stand to take and it should be followed by every true friend of labor in the United States.

THE CARMEN'S SIDE

Little that was not already known before has thus far been brought out at the Eastern Street Railway wage arbitration proceedings, now being carried on at the state house. The employees' side has been heard, various representative employees having been summoned to testify concerning present working conditions, wages, soaring costs of living and expenditures. In no case has the testimony introduced by Attorney Vahney, counsel for the men seeking more money for their arduous daily labors, been sensational.

The employees have testified calmly that the high cost of living has worked against them in trying to live decently and obtain a fair return from their labors. Some of them, working seven days a week, they found little time for ordinary recreation and even with this working period, found the extra day's wages did not bring any relief from a continual battle to pay personal and household expenses and "make both ends meet."

One witness declared emphatically that he had never found any fault with the eastern management or its treatment of its employees who performed faithful work, but wages are not enough to live comfortably upon, it was added.

"We would like a little more money for some of the ordinary demands of living and supporting a family," declared one street railwayman.

High rents, mounting expenses along the lines of both food and wearing apparel, stiffer costs for other necessities of life—all these reasons were given by most of the railwaymen frankly testifying at the state house, being at the state house.

There was no arrogant attitude apparent at any time; the men who testified were selected from various walks of street railway life from different sections of the eastern territory, and all told practically the same story—they want "a little more money" at the end of the week with which to pay necessary things to conserve their own and family comforts and keep more of the decent fruits of honest labors in a time when prosperity is sliding over a land of free people.

FOR A DISTRICT COURT BUILDING

Our city government, committed to a policy of retrenchment and economy, does not feel inclined to spend nearly $100,000 for improvements on the old Market street building in order to provide suitable quarters for the local district court.

In this the government is fully justified, particularly for the reason that it is the duty of the county to provide the necessary quarters for the municipal court. The county commissioners plead a lack of funds; but although this may be justified at the moment, it is not a convincing reason why the county should fail to do so.

Lowell was it has done for several other cities where the necessity was certainly no greater than in this city. It would seem that Commissioner Barlow should be able to secure such a building for Lowell. If there is a shortage in the county funds and if the borrowing limit has been reached, the county can solve the problem by selling the local jail and using the funds for the erection of a district court building.

Another plan has been proposed by Councilor Cosgrove, but if the city balks at the expense of remodeling the Market street building, it is unlikely to adopt a plan that would entail much greater expense. It seems to us that the county should not be allowed to put the matter right with a failure of the hand, as it were. There is here a real necessity, a case in which the county should step in and solve the problem in a proper manner by giving Lowell a suitable building for the accommodation of our district court.

BOOM FOR BOOTLEGGING

According to dispatches from Montreal, a flood of liquor, much of it "hot stuff," is entering New York state from the province of Quebec. Secretary Lucien Clague, of the Quebec liquor commission, is authority for the statement.

With the opening of the motor roads across the border, bootlegging began to boom. Repealed by New York state is its prohibition enforcement.

New blood and capital into the smuggling game, so that heavier traffic than last summer is anticipated.

Although not particularly concerned with the question of whether Canadian whiskey, locally manufactured and sold in the provinces, enters the United States, the Quebec commission looks on the manufacture of illicit beverages and plans to launch an intensive drive against the bootlegging trade insofar as it involves violations of the provincial liquor law. It is understood that the attitude of the Canadian authorities is that it is up to American officials to see that no liquor, genuine or otherwise, shall be smuggled across the border. Canadian officials stationed along the border have reported from time to time that liquor-runners were moving large quantities of liquors toward the border. American tourists say that most of the liquor is being conveyed by automobile, coupe and sedan, preferred. The big motor trucks may soon be used unless the authorities stop the traffic.

THE NEW COTTON STANDARD

The new law for standardizing cotton stocks for international trading, appears to be little understood except in textile circles, closely connected with buying and selling of raw cotton staples. We are informed that the new law, approved by all countries, trading in the commodity, provides that all sales and shipments of American cotton in international and foreign commerce must be in accordance with the United States official cotton standards. Hereafter much of the American cotton sold abroad has been checked on Liverpool standards, so-called. The new law also provides arbitration through the department of agriculture of all such sales and shipments.

The Liverpool Cotton Association has conducted these arbitrations in the past and considerable dissatisfaction has been expressed by American producers and exporters because they had no representation on the arbitration board. The universal standardization has been contended for in the past without avail. British cotton men always contending for and insisting upon Liverpool standards and the maintenance of Liverpool arbitration.

ROTARY AND THE CHILDREN

Rotarians all over New England continue the practice of visiting little children, the blind and the disabled. Roger always to help those who are in want, charitable Rotarians, quick to respond to appeals for assistance that will bring relief to many places of want and distress, find much work to do along the road of responsive succor and help even in times of national business prosperity.

Witness the latest from Pawtucket, where the Rotary club has just voted to establish a permanent convalescent home for week and sickly children in that city and Central Falls. The same Rotarians also plan to erect and maintain a vacation camp to continue from July 1 to Labor day. The entire committee hopes to cope for at least 200 children this summer.

The colors of the Rotarians are the same everywhere, including Lowell, where plans are already on foot for an outing for the little ones in the local orchards, the outing to be held at the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro, July 17.

FOR DISABLED VETERANS

Friends of the disabled Veterans of Massachusetts will be glad to know that the old Market street building, Lowell, Mass., was found by the Veterans' Association as a camp of convenience for the Massachusetts Association of Disabled Veterans.

The delegates who were such as to arouse the attention and cheer the members of the association who were able to be present.

It is understood that the association plans to have the disabled veterans of the camp to spend periods ranging from two weeks to a month. For these veterans who, because of their ailments, require the open air, quarters will be provided in tents to be supplied by the army base at Camp Devens. The camp site is ideal and this trip of giving the veterans who need it most a period of rest and recreation in this health camp will doubtless be instrumental in restoring many of them to better health or at least to a more cheerful state of mind.

A Thought

A man shall be a hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.—Isa. 32:2.

Was not enough to help the feeble up, but to support him alone.—Shakespeare.

A Case in Point

A full grown porcupine, quills and all, dropped from an overhanging tree directly into the boat from which the Rev. Sidney Park, of Boston, Wash., was fishing. The Rev. Mr. Park, better versed in black sheep and goat than porcupines, rather than to take the chances of knocking porky off the boat with the oars, dived off the craft and swam to the shore.

Thoughts of You

Out when the clouds were fleeing,
Black overhead,
And when the hours were creeping,
Sombre and dread,
Faint for my spirit stealing,
Darksome and blue,
Ghosts of the past revealing,
Came thoughts of you.

Out when the sun was beaming,
Glowing with light,
When all the earth was seeming
Thrilled with delight,
In the joy of the morning,
Quickly hours flew,
Out of the window streaming,
Came thoughts of you.

Now as the stars are gleaming
Flax down to earth,
And the fair moon is beaming
Sweedly with mirth,
Out from the distance reaching,
Come to my view,
Gleams from your soul, beseeching
Kind thoughts of you.

ENGLISH RATE RAISED

Bank of England Announces

Jump From 3 to 4 Per Cent Level

LONDON, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Bank of England today raised its rate to four per cent from 3 per cent level which had prevailed since 1920.

The chief reason for the increase is being the official rate more in line with the United States, where money for some time has ruled only one and one-half per cent above London's.

The Bank situation also was evident in the minds of the bank directors when they decided to impose a higher rate on loans.

The increase caused little surprise as events recently have been moving rapidly toward such action.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Just a word about the man who takes the pictures for this paper. His name is Rupert Billings, but we call him "Pat" and we think he likes us better for it. Anyway, "Pat" is some photographer and can snap a picture from any angle and under all circumstances. He can handle a camera with skillful expertise and knows the mechanism of his instrument from a to z. Mr. Billings is a graduate of the Vermont grammar, Lowell high and Lowell Textile schools, and specializes in newspaper photography with the Burr Engraving company.

Sergeant Timothy J. Kimball, local army recruiting officer, has received a letter from Ernest Pelletier, a Lowell boy, who enlisted through the local office more than a year ago. Pelletier is now connected with the Fifth Infantry and is stationed at Camp Devens for the summer. The letter is quite a bit far off in the military arm. Pelletier says, "I want to thank you for the truth you told me about the army. I have had a good time and I don't regret it a bit. I am company leader and play a drum in the band. As a civilian I never handled a rifle, but now I am qualified as a sharpshooter, both slow and rapid fire, on the 200, 300, 500 and 600 yard range, record score. We are all well fed and have good bunks to sleep in and do not have too much drilling. I like it very much and guarantee that any young man joining the infantry is wise." Pelletier was only a boy when he signed up and he is now learning to be a first class musician in the Fifth Infantry band, recognized as the leading army band in this section. Sergeant Kimball, in making this letter public, says it is one of the finest he has ever received as a recruiting sergeant, as it gives a clear conception of what army life really offers to young men today.

Health teaching has become so generally associated with academic instruction in the United States, that a French teacher, instructing French youths in the English language in France, has combined health teaching with the language instruction as a matter of course. This is the word that has come to the American Child Health Association from M. Emile Gueson, instructor at Cherbourg, France. M. Gueson wrote to tell of the favorable way in which his students had adopted the health instruction work as outlined in text books. In addition to being given health instruction in the English language, which fulfills the requirements of the English lesson, the students gain a subsidiary knowledge in health. Thus in learning two subjects in one, according to M. Gueson, the members of the class have a greater interest in their work than they otherwise would.

The property owners on Salisbury beach between the centre and the jetty at the mouth of the Merrimack are anxious to have the excursion steamer restored on the river from Haverhill to the beach. This steamer made regular trips during the summer season 25 years ago and carried many picnic parties from Haverhill, Lawrence and Lowell. The line was discontinued, however, when the dam was built, was burned down and to make matters still worse the tide undermined the landing so that the whole structure was swept away. The Beach Association are now expending considerable money in having plans for the restoration of the steamer. The plan is to build a new steamer, to be built from the end of the lowland near the jetty to what is known as "Huller's toothpick," a pointed buoy set in the river to warn boaters of hidden rocks. The improvement will be profitable to the river steamer and result in a great deal of business for the steamer. This would offer an additional opportunity to reach old Salisbury, which as a bathing beach has been superior to any other in the full stretch of the ocean tide without being sheltered by headlands of any kind.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

Baseball History

I've seen Babe Ruth when he lined 'em out For many and many a circuit clout, I've seen Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb, too, Performing wonders that thrilled me through; But the greatest kick that I ever got Came from a game on the home-town lot, When we hung on our rivals the Indian sign By a score of fifty to forty-nine.

From two till six of a summer's day We battled on in a bitter fray, And the crack of hits was a fusillade As we played, and played, and played, and played, Except for the times when we had to wait Till the crowd quit fighting around the plate; For our sporting ethics were none too fine, When we won by fifty to forty-nine!

I pitched till my arm was wrenched and sore, Allowing just seventy hits—no more; While the other twirler, as I recall, Was socked for a hundred and ten in all! The errors? Get this into your nut—The game was errors and nothing but! Yet, oh the thrill of my life was mine When we won by fifty to forty-nine!

DOCK STRIKE GROWING DEATHS AND INJURIES

Some English Ports Seriously Affected, Strikers Now Totaling 30,000

LONDON, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The unofficial dock strike has extended until it involves nearly 30,000 men. Of this number, some 14,000 are in London; the others are scattered among Hull, Cardiff, Barry, Bristol, Grimsby and some of the smaller ports. Liverpool, Southampton and Swansea have not been affected, and although most of the large London docks are involved the employers under the authority of the port of London are still loyal.

The strike is causing serious inconvenience, especially in the handling of food supplies.

SYDNEY, N. S. This is the first mine to be reported affected in this way.

Midget monkeys and lowering, richly robed elephants, the stir of the marching hosts of men and beasts and the swelling chorus of a thousand voices, wee clown doggies and file upon file of stately horses, tribal groups from the deserts and lavishly gowned American beauties—surely the opening spectacle of the Sells-Floto circus, "A Night in Persia," which will be seen at the Lowell Fair Grounds on Friday, July 13, is filled with contrasts, just as is the circus itself. And perhaps it is in striking contrasts—the thunder of racing herds of pachyderms here, and the flash of somersaulting spangled figure there—that the circus retains its hold upon our hearts.

HUGE BONFIRE MARKS HEIGHT OF FOURTH CELEBRATION AT NORTH CHELMSFORD

HUGE FIRE WHICH MADE BONFIRE

North Chelmsford celebrated the Fourth in a grand and glorious manner that will not be forgotten by the residents of that town for many years to come.

Big events on the "night before" program were the bonfire which had been arranged by the Silsbee mill management, and the midway and carnival on the playgrounds which furnished the large crowd with opportunities for enjoyment. Hundreds of machines were parked near Silsbee park and thousands of people came via electric cars, making the crowd the largest seen in North Chelmsford in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Agent Bernard F. Gilmore was the man responsible for the "big time," and with his assistant, John E. Hogan, were on the job every minute and made the affair a huge success in every way. The midway kept open during the Fourth and the crowds kept coming all day long.

In the afternoon the big attraction was the ball game between the Silsbee mill team and the Arlington mill team. A game between these teams had been played in the morning at Lawrence, resulting in victory for Silsbee by a 6-6 score, and the afternoon game was also a victory for Silsbee, this time by a score of 11 to 7. Following the baseball game, a program of sports for the younger people of the town was run off. The midway remained open until late last night and before closing practically every booth was sold out.

MINOR FIRES
The crew of Engine 6 got away to a flying start shortly after midnight, following the close of Lowell's safe and sane Fourth by responding to a telephone alarm from a roof fire at 8 Cross street. A still alarm was sent in for an interior fire at 46 Butler avenue shortly after 11 o'clock this morning and at 11:56 box 61 was sounded for a roof fire on a Third street residence.

DEMPSEY GIVES GIBBONS CREDIT

Title Holder Expresses Admiration for Tommy's Ability as a Boxer

Champion Plans to Spend Vacation With His Mother in Salt Lake City

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 5.—(By the Associated Press.) Jack Dempsey, refreshed by a good night's sleep, prepared today to desert Montana for a few days' vacation with his mother in Salt Lake City, Utah, after nine weeks of training for his heavyweight match with Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, yesterday.

The titleholder expressed admiration for Gibbons' ability as a boxer and declared he wanted to give him credit for his wonderful showing.

Dempsey today has two slightly discolored eyes and a wound under the right, and an old cut opened up over the left as a result of Gibbons' left hooks and right crosses.

NEW ORLEANS TO BID $500,000 FOR A RETURN MATCH

NEW ORLEANS, July 5.—W. A. Coker, chairman of the New Orleans Young Men's Gymnasium club, has wired Richard T. Burke, secretary of the Louisiana State Boxing commission, at Shelby, Mont., authority to try to obtain a return match between Dempsey and Gibbons for New Orleans.

Mr. Coker said he instructed Burke to go as high as a half million dollars for a match. Burke was timekeeper at yesterday's fight.

ARIZONA LEGION REGRET'S DEMPSEY'S BLOCK IS STILL ON

SEVEN INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

As a result of a collision between two touring cars and an automobile truck on the state highway near Silver Lake in Wilmington Tuesday night, Henry Barry of Harvard street, Cambridge, is in a serious condition at the state infirmary in Tewksbury while six other persons, who figured in the accident, were also treated at the infirmary for minor injuries. Barry is suffering from fractured ribs and other injuries. The other injured were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Higgins of Somerville, Eleanor Clancy of Cambridge, Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eagan of Boston.

Shelby $100,000 Behind

The potential earnings of the champion for the fight were cut to less than $200,000, Jack Kearns, his manager, collected only $85,000 of the $100,000 guaranteed his promoter after the gate receipts had been turned over to him. Out of this amount he held for two preliminary bouts, at a cost of about $1000, and footed a federal tax bill on $75,000 worth of tickets. The discrepancy between the ticket sale total and the amount he received was due to the fact that the promoter, approximately 2500 twenty dollar tickets for $10 shortly before the bout as a crowd of several thousand, apparently averse to paying regular prices, surged against the gate barriers, and the fence surrounding the arena.

The preliminary scheduled between Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul, light heavyweight, and Jack Burke, one of Dempsey's sparring partners, was cancelled at the last minute when funds expected to be supplied by the promoters were not available.

The fight crowd was subjected to a prolonged wait before the title bout when Michael Collins, matchmaker, refused to permit the fight to proceed until the money to pay for the preliminaries and James Bourcherty, the referee, was forthcoming. Collins, Kearns and Major J. E. Lane, trustee of the promoters engaged in a heated argument at the ticket office, while the spectators sweltered in the hot sun, but a personal check for $1000, signed by Mayor James Johnson, treasurer of the fight, eventually was produced and the balance of the money needed, after a hurried trip to a local bank by Mayor Johnson's son.

Tom Gibbons, defeated, but winner of a moral victory, nevertheless, in the eyes of Shelby, which celebrated triumphantly last night, will return to St. Paul, his home with his wife and their three small children tonight or early tomorrow. He was given a mighty ovation by the townspeople with whom he has become immensely popular during his training here.

As he left the ring, a war cry of "Hurray for the champion" was pushed at him and his seconds fought desperately to keep back shouting, congratulating fans as he was rushed to his quarters. His wife awaiting his coming, greeted him with a kiss when he reached home. Last night he celebrated Independence Day by shooting off fireworks for the edification of his boys and greeting scores of friends.

DEATH KNEEL TO BIG FIGHT SUMS

Fiasco at Shelby Yesterday Probably Has Put an End to Big Money

New York Boxing Men Think Yesterday's Tragic Spectacle the End

NEW YORK, July 5. (By the Associated Press.) The financial disaster attending the Dempsey-Gibbons championship fight yesterday at Shelby probably has sounded the death knell of exorbitant purses for title matches, boxing circles here today were convinced with Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, yesterday and the public from the high finance that has threatened the popularity of the title game has been apparent for some time but it reached a climax yesterday in the price that the little Montana town paid for its picturesque but, in many ways, tragic spectacle.

If additional proof of this menace to the sport was needed, it was supplied on the same day by the fiasco at Allentown City, where Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight contender, refused to go through with his match with Saul Freedman of Chicago, at the last minute when promoters failed to provide the full amount of his purse.

New York, where the game has the best opportunity of any place in the country to attract crowds, has had two recent promotion failures.

While no definite figures were revealed, the Polo grounds athletic club was understood to have lost heavily on two title bouts; the match between Johnny Kilbane and Eugene D'Amico for the featherweight crown and two weeks later the contest between Jimmy Wilde and Paulino Villa for the flyweight championship. The deficit on both was said to run close to $100,000.

The root of failure in each case was largely the same as that at Shelby. The big event on the program was the free-for-all and Robert M. driven by Tom Coyne, won the second, third and fourth bouts after being lost in the first. Maxwell, driven by Murray Green, took second money. Maxwell belongs to Isaac Weitten's stable and put up a game fight, but after the first bout, he was unable to rally when he sought to put over the knockout punch he desired. He was unmarked, except for a large blue welt on one thigh, which he said was caused by a low blow which inflicted severe pain.

Fans who have been bewailing the fact that the challenger probably would receive nothing for fighting the champion, were heartened today by the belief that motion picture rights in the fight, 25 per cent. of which are

MAGUIRE, DRIVING MAYBELLE PRINCE WINNING FIRST HEAT OF 225 CLASS. GREEN, DRIVING JACKSON, FINISHED SECOND.

A crash in which drivers narrowly escaped serious injuries, and an exhibition of courage and skill that would do credit to a Wild West performer, were the outstanding features of yesterday's horse races at Golden Cove Park.

Three races were on the program with purses amounting to $1000 and each one was a hard fought battle. The big event on the program was the free-for-all and Robert M. driven by Tom Coyne, won the second, third and fourth heats after being lost in the first. Maxwell, driven by Murray Green, took second money. Maxwell belongs to Isaac Weitten's stable and put up a game fight, but after the first bout, he was unable to rally when he sought to put over the knockout punch he desired. He was unmarked, except for a large blue welt on one thigh, which he said was caused by a low blow which inflicted severe pain.

Fans who have been bewailing the fact that the challenger probably would receive nothing for fighting the champion, were heartened today by the belief that motion picture rights in the fight, 25 per cent. of which are entirely barren of profit, however. He received $2000 from Shelby for training expenses, from $100 to $400 per day during many three weeks of training camp, and a tour of the state, immediately preceding the bout netted him $5000.

Gibbons has no regret over the financial end of the bout. He has met the champion, the goal toward which he has struggled for the last three years, retained his record of never having been knocked off his feet, and with the knowledge he has gained of Dempsey's style, he is confident the outcome of a return match would be different from that of yesterday.

Flag was adjudged the aggressor and was placed sixth with ninth fifth. Service Flag took the second heat with Tim Tulan second, and in the next three heats Tim Tulan came in first, with Service Flag a close second. The summary:

SILESIA MILLS TEAM CELEBRATES WITH DOUBLE VICTORY OVER ARLINGTON MILL NINE

Silesia Mills added two more victories to its long string of successes by winning 6 to 0 and 11 to 8 from Arlington Mills of Lawrence at North Chelmsford yesterday. Both morning and afternoon contests were marked by the heavy hitting of the Silesia players, who pounded the offerings of the Lawrence pitchers to all corners of the field.

Donnellan, working on the slab for the North Chelmsford crew in the morning game, held the Lawrence players to seven scattered hits and no runs. Duke Greenhalgh, after a bad start in the second game, settled down to his work and emerged a winner. Reynolds, Cawley, Abbot and Greenhalgh were the leading Silesia hitters in the morning battle.

Arlington scored three runs in the first and second innings of the afternoon game, but a third inning rally which netted four runs started Lawrence on its second downfall. Reynolds, Bridgeford, Cawley, Duffy and Payne were the big hitters for Silesia in this game. The summaries:

TENDLER BOUT PROVES FIZZLE

Quaker Balles When Money Was Not Forthcoming and Refused to Box

Was to Have Met Sailor Freedman in a Fifteen-round Battle

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 5.—Financial troubles were to some extent the cause for calling off the fight between Law Tandler of Philadelphia and Sailor Freedman of Chicago, here yesterday. Tandler put the final touch to the matter, according to Dick Curley, manager of Freedman.

Despite the fact that the Arena was more than half filled and that it was announced previously to the first preliminary that 15,000 persons passed through the gates it was said that not enough money was on hand to fulfill the $15,000 guarantee made to Tandler. Curley, who had been looking for a fight, was the original cause of Tandler's refusal to enter the ring, but that this was not the only reason. Tandler had been met. Tandler's final objection was the fact that it was raining and that the ring was wet and slippery, he said.

Infar as the crowd knew or knows officially, the bout is still on foot. No announcement of its calling off was made.

It was understood from those close to the promoter that $12,000 was offered Tandler originally. He insisted on the additional $3,000 and, according to Manager Curley, this was forthcoming. Then the rain began to fall.

HOLY CROSS PITCHING ACE BLANKS ABBOTS

With Owen Carroll, crack Holy Cross pitcher on the mound, the Salem team was defeated by the score of 3 to 0 at Salem on the morning of the fourth. Carroll allowed the hard-hitting Abbot to get a hit in the first inning, but he was out. Carroll pitched good ball for the rest of the game, and the Holy Cross team scored three runs.

This evening at Graniteville the Abbot will play the Philadelphia Athletics. Tomorrow's score.

DRACUT BOY WINS IN CHARLES RIVER RACES

A Dracut boy, Walter Kendall, swimming under the colors of the Lakeview Swimming Club, won the half mile New England championship swim yesterday at the annual swimming meet of the city of Boston conducted in the Charles river basin. His time in the race was 14 m. 53.5 s., considered very good as the water was choppy and rain fell intermittently during the race.

GOOD PITCHING IS ESSENTIAL

A good pitching staff is most essential to a winning ball club. Proper use of such a pitching staff is just as necessary.

Picking the spot for a pitcher is a baseball manager's greatest worry. Who pitcher should start and who should be used in relief in case the original selection falters? There's where the real work comes in.

I have always regarded Connie Mack as a past master in his selection of pitchers. The judgment of Mack has always seemed to me to be almost unerring. I have seen him deride a pitcher who is weakening at the right spot. Usually he relieves him at the right time.

In the handling of pitchers I am inclined to think Mack is less than any other manager I have ever come into contact with during my major league experience. Yet it is possible to overdo the matter and make a grievous mistake in this respect.

When a manager makes a shift in pitchers he gambles with fate. If the successor does the tricking of the manager, the manager receives huge gains of credit. If the relief pitcher is bombarded even harder than the original pitcher, the manager's credit is lost. The judgment of Mack has always seemed to me to be almost unerring. I have seen him deride a pitcher who is weakening at the right spot. Usually he relieves him at the right time.

BIG GAME TONIGHT AT GRANITEVILLE

The Philadelphia All-Stars, reputed to be the classiest aggregation of colored baseball players to visit this section for years, is the attraction at Graniteville tonight, against the Abbot Worsteds team. A previous game between these clubs resulted in a scoreless tie after 10 innings of thrilling play.

The Abbot have been strengthened by the addition of several sluggers since the first game, and a local victory is predicted. The Abbot hand will provide musical diversion between the innings. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

HENRICKSEN'S HITS TOPPLE C. M. A. C.

Olat Henriksen a timely hitting and Al Davidson's clever pitching were prime factors in the 5 to 0 defeat handed C.M.A.C. at Textile campus, Wednesday night in a Central Massachusetts Twilight game by Abbot Worsteds. The set-back marked the ninth successive defeat of the Lowell players but as in previous contests the losers played good baseball.

The game was fast from start to finish, but was marred somewhat by the absence of a pitching slab and movable bases. The game was replete with fast fielding plays, the hitting being rapid and accurate on account of the effectiveness of Al Kroog for Lowell and Al Davidson for the visitors. Abbot won in the second frame on a hit and a pair of sacrifice flies. Sherry started the fireworks with a single into right field and was moved into scoring position on a fly ball hit by Davidson. The home players presented a smooth working combination in the inner defense, with Joe Duffy working at third and Eddie Cawley pasturing around second. The lack of a pitching slab and movable bases, however, did not start in the first and second innings, missing several difficult chances. He received himself in the closing frame with several short stops and throws to first base. Cawley had seven chances in the field without an error. Eddie hauled in several Texas hits by running into short right field. Kroog looked much better on the mound with Jimmy Liston handling his speed and deceptive shoots. The Lowell high school team in addition to catching a great game contributed two of the six hits made by his club. Gardner will be the Saturday afternoon attraction at Textile campus.

Puzzling Plays

By Billy Evans

Here is a play that at one time caused many disputes, because the rules did not specifically cover the point.

At the meeting of the rules committee recently the point was definitely covered, so there is no longer any room for argument.

Here is the play as it came up in several minor league games last season.

There are runners on first and second and none out. The batsman hits a ball to the fence for a home run.

The runner on second for some unknown reason missed third base on his way to the plate. The man on first as well as the batsman touched each other on the base.

The ball is thrown to third base and the umpire declares the runner out who failed to touch the base.

The team in the field contends the other two runners should also be called out, since they technically passed the other runner on the base by touching third base before he did.

What about it?

The only runner who can be called out on the play is the runner who actually missed the base.

At one time the rules offered a chance for an argument, because the point was not definitely covered. Now the rule is very specific. It says:

"The failure of a preceding runner to touch a base and who is declared out thereafter, shall not affect the status of a succeeding runner who touches bases in proper order."

Kinks o' the Links

Please explain the exact meaning of a "stymie".

When your opponent's ball lies in the line of your "putt," it is regarded as a stymie.

How many tournaments did Walter Hagen win during the spring play in the south?

Hagen won five consecutive medal play tournaments from 1911 to 1915 during the spring play in the south. During the spring play in the south, Hagen won five consecutive medal play tournaments from 1911 to 1915.

In the ninth inning of the ball game, Pitcher Helmsch injured his back by throwing a curve ball. It was necessary to use a relief pitcher, so Hagen was a lucky man. The relief pitcher threw two balls to Hagen. The third ball delivered was waist high and on the right side of the batter's head. Hagen hit the ball for a home run.

JOHNSTON AND HUNTER TO MEET

World's Tennis Title Will Come to America, at Any Rate

Stars From This Country Both Land Their Matches in Semi-Finals

WIMBLEDON, July 5. (By A. P.)—The next champion tennis player of the world on grass courts will be an American.

The crown goes to William M. Johnston of California or Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, New York. Each of these stars won his way through the semi-final yesterday afternoon in sweeping style.

Johnston took the measure of R. L. C. Norton of South Africa, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4. Hunter eliminated F. Gordon Lowe, veteran English internationalist, whose game has not kept pace with these speedy times. The score in this match was 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

When Johnston and Hunter will face one another across the net of the Wembley stadium, the winner will have won the world title. The contest will take place Saturday.

Americans Lose in Doubles
All aspirations of taking the doubles championship trophy to America along with the silver cup that goes to the last survivor in the singles, died late yesterday afternoon when the French team, Lacoste and Borotra, defeated Vincent Richards and Hunter in a five-set fight that was tense at times, and at other times a sorry exhibition. The score was 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 4-6, 6-4.

The Frenchmen were clever and daring on occasions, but frequently they were clumsy and seemed not to know on or up on the court.

Richards was quite good, but Hunter apparently had forgotten every use of the racket, save slashing and forcing and driving, and he could not control his work, but kept sending the ball into the net.

For him there was an excuse, as he had come through a hard singles quarter Tuesday and another yesterday, and was weary both of watching the ball and wielding the racket when he went on the court to face the slinging fellows from France.

TWELVE CITIES TO BE REPRESENTED

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 5.—About 12 cities are expected to be represented in the National Inter-City doubles tennis championship tournament which is scheduled to open at University club here today. It is planned to play the final matches Sunday, when there also will be an exhibition game between William T. Tilden, world's champion, and Manuel Alonso, Spanish champion and Davis cup player.

Fred Hasting and Ralph Burdick of Indianapolis, the champions, are coming to defend their title. Others are expected from Chicago, Columbus, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Toledo, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Buffalo and Detroit.

YANKEES AND GIANTS EACH LAND A BRACE OF GAMES

Huggins' Men Bring Home Season to Successful Close—Scott Connects for Two Homers, One With the Bases Filled—Braves Drop Double Bill to Brooklyn—White Sox Also Among the Double Winners

NEW YORK, July 5.—Both the Yankees and Giants celebrated the Fourth of July yesterday by walloping their opponents around the lot in a brace of double headers. The Yankees, closing a long home season before a holiday crowd of 14,000, won two games from the Washington Senators by scores of 12 to 6 and 12 to 2. The games were featured by two homers from the stick of Everett Scott, one with the bases full.

The Giants beat the Phillies in the Quaker city by 7 to 3 and 3 to 1. Jimmy O'Connell knocking a home run and dropping two games, 7 to 3 and 6 to 1. In four times at bat, O'Connell, Pittsburgh first baseman, made four hits, one a two-bagger. The Pirates have now made eight in a row.

Others who celebrated twin victories yesterday were the Brooklyn Robins, who took two from the Boston Braves, 4 to 1 and 9 to 10. Ray Evers in Brooklyn and the Chicago White Sox, who won double over the St. Louis Browns at St. Louis 5 to 7 and 7 to 1. In this set game, the St. Louis left fielder grounded out his 12th home run of the season. This is the White Sox third straight over the Browns.

In Boston, no change was made in the American league standings. Felix Delpho adding a double header and winning the first game, 3 to 1, while it dropped the second, 4 to 1.

Spits were also served in Cleveland in the American League. The first game, 10 to 7, was won by the second, 15 to 2, and in the second game, the Red Sox winning the first, 4 to 2, and the Cubs taking the second, 4 to 2.

FAVONIAN WINS RICH OHIO TROTTING STAKE

CLEVELAND, July 5.—Favonian, trained and driven by Fred Edman and owned by Mrs. Edman, was the sensational performer before a holiday crowd at the North Randall Grand Circuit races yesterday, winning the deciding heat in the $6000 Ohio stake for 2:03 trotters, in which two heats were raced Tuesday.

Clyde the Great, which won the second heat Tuesday, was a $100 to $50 favorite over the field in yesterday's auctions, but after taking the lead in the deciding heat and holding it until close to the wire, Edman came out in a driving finish.

Eleanor Guy, behind which Tom Murphy took the place of the suspended George Loomis, finished third. The speed sensation of the day was furnished by the Boston trotter, The Great Volo when he won the second heat on the 2:03 trot in 2:02 1-5, the fastest heat race this season.

The Great Volo sold for $35 in the pools for the 2:03 trot. The first heat favorite Woodrow 1 was won by Great Britain in a close finish, with Peter the Brewer, but the Great Volo came from behind in the second and nosed Great Britain out in fast record time.

They loomed to the three-quarters in the final. Then Fox drove the Great Volo a last quarter around 28 seconds, winning handsly. The winner is owned by Sanford Small of Boston.

The two divisions of the 2:16 pace tickets paid $201,200.

Dreco Relieves Kidney and Liver Trouble
—Driving Away Gastritis and Constipation

It is strange that people will disregard the early symptoms of stomach trouble and wait till they are down sick, unable to attend to their duties. Stomach disorders lead to a long train of other troubles. The liver, kidneys and bowels are closely allied with the stomach and soon become affected. Mr. Albert Wheeler, well known in Lowell and the vicinity, says:

"My stomach was in bad shape. Gas would form, souring the food I ate and causing belching and suffering. I felt bloated and acid rising from my stomach made me feel terrible.

"My liver and kidneys became affected, my system being clogged by the poisonous backwash of constipation. Each day I felt worse. The suffering was unbearable; then I started taking Dreco.

"This wonderful medicine improved my condition and after the third bottle all trace of my troubles disappeared. I feel clean and healthy inside. My stomach digests everything I eat without any trouble and causing suffering. My kidneys and liver are in fine shape.

"I'll tell you Dreco has made a new man out of me and what it has done for me it can do for everyone else."

The proper medicine for such a run-down condition is not harsh mineral drugs and chemicals. Not only so, but sound common-sense points instead to those good old-fashioned remedies of the vegetable kingdom—herbs, barks, roots and leaves, such as grandmother herself used to brew and use in the days when doctors were few and hard to reach and before new-fangled drugs and diseases became the fashion.

Call today at Green's Drug Store and ask to talk with the expert from the Dreco Laboratories. He will gladly tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. Also he will honestly tell you whether or not he thinks Dreco will benefit you. Also Dreco is sold in Nashua by Nashua Drug Co., 175 Main St. Adv.

Alkali in Soap Bad for Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulished coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonsful is all that is required. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy suds, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily.

The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 16

As soon as the Bad Giant had walked close enough, Jack reached out and prodded the hornets' nest with his stick. Then he quickly crawled inside the tower house. Immediately there was a grand scramble as the hornets started swarming around the Bad Giant. Jack watched them with much interest.

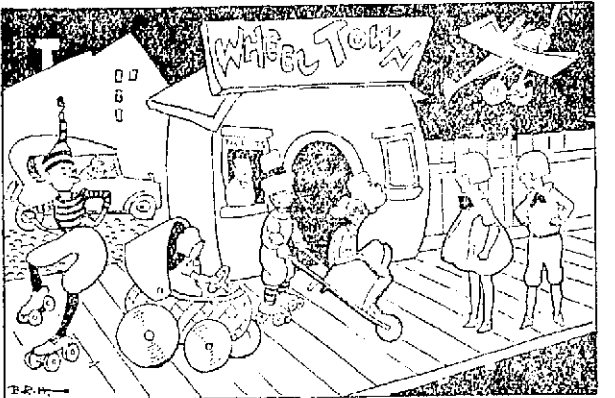

It wasn't long before the stinging hornets became too much for the Bad Giant and he let go of the tower pole and started to run. The hornets followed him as he went tearing through the woods and Jack came out of the tower house just as the tower pole fell snugly against the hub of a tree.

As the Bad Giant finally disappeared, Jack decided that it was safe for him to climb out of the tree. As he reached the ground he heard the bushes rustle nearby and there, right beside him, stood little Trixie's put kangaroo. And Trixie and Cucumber were with him. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

OVER THE STATION WERE THE WORDS, "WHEEL TOWN" IN LARGE GOLD LETTERS.

"Well, of all things!" exclaimed Nancy as she looked out of the window of the Choo-Choo Express. As it slowed up at another station in Choo-Choo Land.

Nick looked out of the window and saw what Nancy saw. A town where all the people were going around on automobiles or street cars, some sitting on roller skates, some riding on kiddie-cars and the babies were in perambulators as babies should, at once.

Over the station were the words, "Wheel Town" in large gold letters. "All out!" called Mister Punch the conductor.

So Nancy and Nick scrambled down off the train and in search of Ruby Joan, the lost car bell.

"Well ask the first person who stops," said Nick. "But everybody seems to be in such a hurry, no one is standing still a minute."

Just then a workman on roller skates who was pushing a wheelbarrow with a load of bricks in it, tripped and fell.

Nancy went the wheelbarrow, bricks and all.

"Please, sir, did you see Ruby Joan, my dog doll?" asked Nancy.

"Bogorra and I didn't," answered the Irishman. "But, faith, whoever Ruby Joan is, your names will be handy if you don't get off those feet of yours at once!"

He scrambled up and grabbed his cap, and he said, "Here, jump in, I'll take you wherever you want to go. We are not allowed to walk on our feet in Wheel Town. The Twins jumped in as he said.

"Please take us back to the station then," said Nick, thanking him.

"Ruby Joan isn't here, I'm sure. She couldn't walk even so how could she skate?"

Aster looked very surprised. He nearly fell over when he saw them pointing.

"That's a fine taxi!" he called. (To be continued.)

Immigrants on the S. S. Guilio Cesare salute the State of Liberty as the vessel steams into New York harbor. It was one of 11 boats carrying more than 12,000 immigrants which stood outside the harbor until midnight of the last day of the old quota period and then raced to insure acceptance of the passengers at Ellis Island before the new quota was exhausted. Inset are Tony and Angelo, future Americans, unconcernedly eating "pie" as the dramatic race is run.

BOY SCOUTS TO CAMP AT ISLAND POND

Over 100 Boy Scouts are expected to attend the annual encampment of Lowell troops to open at Island Pond, Pelham, N. H., July 15, according to an announcement from Scout Executive Edwin J. Mellon. The Island Pond location for the camp was decided upon by scout executives after inspecting several proposed sites, because of its many advantages for land and water sports and life in the open. The lake affords good fishing, boating and swimming.

Mr. Mellon has received word from army base headquarters in Boston that a shipment of 25 tents and other army equipment will be sent to this city for the use of scouts. The American Red Cross will provide an expert life guard, who in addition to protecting the youngsters, will teach them a swim. An extensive program of drills, sports and instruction in scout activities has been planned by those in charge of the camp.

STUFFED TOMATO SALAD

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH,
Of Columbia University

Scald six medium-sized tomatoes, peel and cut a thin slice from the top of each. Remove a part of the inside, leaving quite a thick wall. Sprinkle with salt, invert the tomatoes and chill.

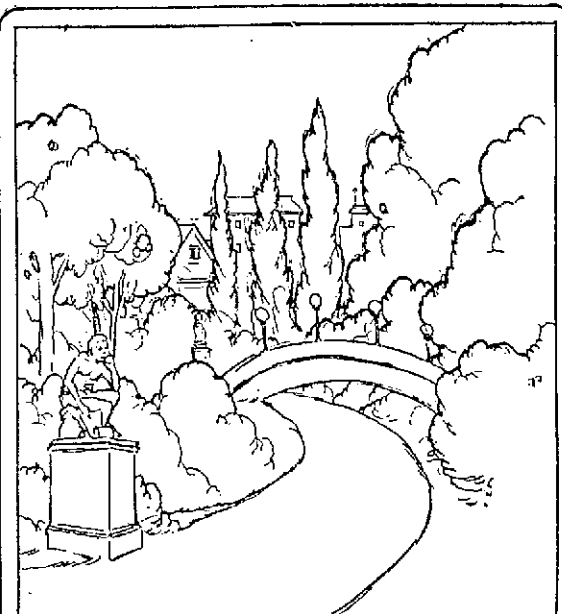

Cut stale bread into small dice-shaped pieces until half a cup is obtained. Fry the dice in two tablespoons oil. Add to this one tablespoon chopped green pepper, one-half cup chopped cucumber, and one-fourth cup French dressing, which should be well seasoned with an addition of onion to flavor it.

Chill this and at serving time stuff the tomatoes with the mixture. Place a spoonful of mayonnaise on the top of each and serve on lettuce or water-cress.

Stinking raisins will not be such a sticky job if you put a little butter on your fingers.

ETHEL BARRYMORE GETS DIVORCE AND IS GIVEN CUSTODY OF HER THREE CHILDREN

ETHEL BARRYMORE AND HER CHILDREN

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 5.—Ethel Barrymore, the actress, was today granted a divorce from Russell G. Colt, son of the late Colonel Samuel P. Colt, of Bristol, on the grounds of neglect to provide, following a hearing of testimony taken by depositions. Under the decision she is granted custody of three children. It is understood that an interlocutory decree will be entered, whereby Mr. Colt will have the children with him at stated times.

Mrs. Colt in her deposition stated she was married on March 14, 1910. She said that in 1914 while at a New York hotel Mr. Colt struck her several times. She further stated she had been subjected to assault on several occasions. She said she had supported herself and children since her marriage.

FRACTURE OF SKULL IRELAND TODAY

Man Arrested on Drunkenness Charge, Collapses in Police Station Cell

After being booked at the police station yesterday morning by Officers Killey and Donovan, and charged with drunkenness, Arthur L. Connolly of Lawrence, collapsed in the station cell and was removed to St. John's hospital, where examination showed him to be suffering from a fracture of the skull.

Connolly was taken into custody about 9 o'clock in the morning. The police station he gave his name and address and was placed in a cell, as is customary. About two hours afterward, the keeper noticed him curled up on the floor of the cell and immediately notified City Physician M. A. Dwyer. The latter ordered his removal to the hospital.

Recovering consciousness at intervals, Connolly said he lived and had relatives in Lawrence. It could not be learned just how he was injured so seriously, although it is believed to have been caused by a fall. When searched at the police station, a bank book showing deposits of $400 in a Boston bank was found on his person. He also had U. S. army discharge papers, indicating that he enlisted in Manchester, N. H., and was discharged on Nov. 21, 1915.

Improvement was noted in his condition at the hospital at noon today. It was reported to the police early this morning that the man was dying, but hospital authorities refused to confirm that report, saying that he was making comfortably.

IS TRANQUIL

Governor-General of Free State Says it is as Peaceful as England

LONDON, July 5.—"Ireland today is as tranquil as Great Britain," said Timothy Healy, governor-general of the Irish Free State, in an interview with the Daily Express, prior to his return to Ireland, last evening after conversations with imperial authorities regarding Irish affairs.

The governor-general said that the government was intensely preoccupied with how to terminate a situation in which it held 10,000 Irishmen. The government's purpose, he said, was to release their prisoners as rapidly as possible without exposing the public to a recurrence of disorder, and they are now being freed at the rate of about 300 weekly.

DEAF MUTE PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO LARCENY

Edgar Pelky, deaf and dumb, in writing pleaded not guilty to the larceny of an automobile from Paul Turcotte of Lawrence. The case was peculiar in that the court had to resort to written correspondence to secure the defendant's testimony. Pelky is alleged to have removed Turcotte's Ford truck from its stall in Mahoney's garage in Fourth street and sold the machine for $15 to John S. Seymour. He gained admittance to the garage, according to Inspector John Walsh, by breaking the lock on the door.

When Seymour bought the machine, he cut off the truck body. Turcotte said it would cost over $200 to replace it. The car itself was worth about $60, he said. In order to allow further investigation, the case was continued until tomorrow, bonds being fixed at $200.

SUN'S FIGHT SERVICE PLEASES THOUSANDS

There were almost as many people in Kenney square last evening to watch the Sun bulletin service on the telephone as there were in the boxing arena itself. And it was a satisfied crowd, too, showing a strong sympathy leaning toward the champion boxer, who was fighting in the ring. In every respect the Sun's bulletin service seemed to measure up to a high standard and gave general satisfaction.

What Do They Say?

WHEN the car drives away and your guests have all gone, what do they say? Is it, "What a beautiful home—the piazza was so cool and cozy—the furniture is in such good taste?"

Expensive furniture is not necessary to form such an opinion in the hearts of your friends. The secret lies in "the art of selection." That "art" is most readily obtained by furnishing your porch from our large display of Rattan, Willow and Hickory—furniture which bears the stamp of Adams quality.

WEIRD WAR MACHINES

Craft to Fly Like Hawks and Dive Like Seals, in Next War

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 5.—In the next war there will be craft that fly like hawks, swim like ducks, waddle like armored tanks, and dive like seals in approved Jules Verne style, according to a British military official who is in Australia on a special mission. Behind closed doors of laboratories and in secluded workshops, says this authority, who desires that his name for the present remain undisclosed, there has been with government funds, the strangest and weirdest battle of wits that has ever been embarked upon.

Tanks that swim, great metal sea destroyers that fly, gunning air machines which dive silently beneath the water to hide themselves," he says, "and crews who must learn to live and fight in three different elements (land, sea or air) are all necessities of the future." He states that Great Britain is building a giant airplane which cleaves the surface of the water prior to taking wing and develops 3,000 horse-power, and is also constructing the largest flying boat in the world. This winged vessel is intended to go out with the fleet for long periods.

"The hull of this new flying monster," says the British army man, "when resting on the water will ride out rough seas. It will taxi along the water like a surface ship, or speed through the air. It is to have anchors, engines, riding lights, and all the equipment of the ordinary vessel of the sea, while its crew within the hull will eat and sleep on board just like the crew of an ordinary naval craft. The new machine will fight like a tank on earth, will be a super-destroyer on water, and climb to give combat in the air, and when concealment is required it will fold its wings, seal its hull and dive like a submarine beneath the surface of the sea. Science is striving to make these craft both silent and invincible."

FRENCH BAPTISTS PICNIC ON FOURTH

Members of the French Baptist church in West Sixth street enjoyed their annual outing at Willow Dale yesterday. The affair, which was largely attended, proved very enjoyable for all concerned. The trip to the resort was made in automobiles, which left West Sixth street shortly after a o'clock. Athletic events of all sorts were carried out at the grove and at noon a basket dinner was enjoyed on the green. The arrangements were in charge of Rev. A. R. Perron and Leonard Belanger.

The garbage can should always be kept closely covered.

UNOCCUPIED HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

The first fire attributed to the Fourth of July celebration occurred shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday evening when an unoccupied house at 300 Rogers street, the property of the Edward Cawley estate, caught fire presumably from a firecracker that had been thrown in through an open or broken window. The fire evidently smoldered for some time before being discovered for when the apparatus arrived in answer to box 825, the fire was in the partitions and had spread through to the roof. The blaze was put under control in a short time but it was not until 10:30 that the recall was sounded. The loss is estimated in the vicinity of $2000.

FIRE REMOVES OLD PIGGERY BUILDINGS

The old piggery at the Chelmsford street hospital, the existence of which has been a stain upon the reputation of the hospital and the subject of complaint from residents of the neighborhood for some time, is gone. Supt. Joseph B. Gormley has long desired to get rid of these buildings and finally decided that the "night before" would be the proper occasion for their removal. Shortly after dark Tuesday evening he gave the necessary orders and the piggery buildings were soon a mass of flames and formed one bonfire that was perfectly satisfactory to the neighbors of the hospital and to the lunatics as well.

How many "Typhoid Marys" are in this crowd? Thousands of perfectly well people are unknowingly carriers and spreaders of disease germs

Crowds Breed Contagion

HUMAN beings were meant to live in the open, guarded by the prophylactics of sunshine and pure air.

There is always danger of contagion in crowds—in factories, elevators, street cars, theatres.

Doctors and great health institutes have proved that most disease germs pass from one person to another by actual contact. Things which many people touch are always dangerous—car straps, public telephones, door knobs, books, soiled money, stair rails. Germs are carried by hands to mouth, nose or food.

In every crowd there are almost certainly several "carriers" of disease germs.

A "carrier" is a person who is perfectly well but who formerly had a mild, undiscovered case of diphtheria, influenza, measles, or some other illness. The person soon recovered and became immune to the disease but the germs multiplied by millions, harmless to the "carrier" but of deadly menace to everyone else. "Carriers" move about in every class of society. There are thousands of them.

There is only one protection from this danger—perfect, scientific cleanliness.

If you will purify hands and face frequently with a true health soap, especially after contacts with crowds, there is less likelihood of the germs entering your body through mouth or nose or passing on to your wife and children.

Lifebuoy Protects

Lifebuoy is a true health soap. Its creamy, copious lather releases a wonderful antiseptic ingredient which goes down deep in every pore, purifying—combating the menace of dirty things.

Soap cannot be made that is more pure, more bland, more beautifying than Lifebuoy. Its rich, nourishing oils of palm fruit and cocoanut keep the skin soft, free from blemishes—and purified.

You know Lifebuoy is a health soap by its wholesome, pungent odor. The odor vanishes quickly—but the protection remains.

Mothers—you who are "health doctors" to your families—guard those you love by placing a cake of Lifebuoy at every place where there is running water.

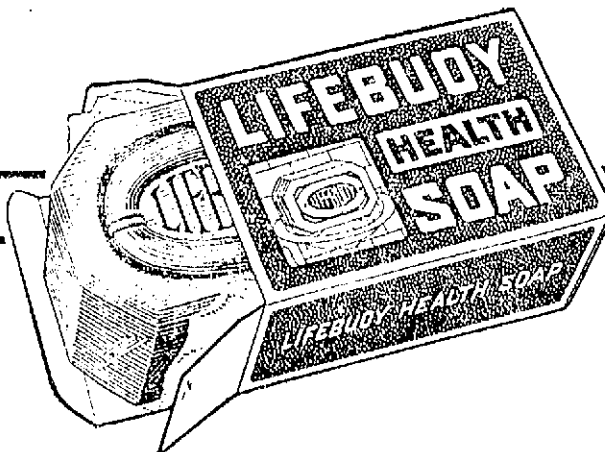

Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

The Health Doctor says:

To keep well—don't touch things which many other hands have touched—keep hands away from nose, mouth or food—PURIFY hands as often as possible with Lifebuoy Health Soap—when you get up, when you retire, and especially before eating or preparing food.

DEVOTE MANY YEARS

Couple for 70 Years Have
Given Their Lives to
Passion Play Service

OBERRAMMERGAU, July 5.—Jakob and Mathilde Rutz have just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, one more milestone in two lives which have been devoted to the Passion Play for 70 years. Rutz was the village smithy of Oberrammergau until age pulled him away from the forge, and is the father-in-law of Anton Lang, the renowned portrayer of the life of Christ.

In 1850, as a boy of three, Rutz took his original part in Oberrammergau's famous play. He was then cast as Adam's son in one of the Old Testament tableaux which feature the performance. Ten years later he appeared as an alto soloist and in 1870 was chief assistant to the Passion Play prophet and choir leader, Johannes Diemer. During the performance of 1880, Diemer again held this combination position but Rutz often substituted for him and in 1890 replaced the leader entirely.

For centuries the Diemer family has furnished the choir leader. Rutz being the only person ever to break in on this otherwise uninterrupted succession.

In 1870, when the Passion Play season had to be interrupted, Rutz was called to the colors for the Franco-Prussian war. It was an ironical coincidence that he was billeted during the hostilities with a French family which had once been his guests at Oberrammergau while attending the play.

Mother Rutz's devotion to the Passion Play has expressed itself particularly in hospitably caring for many of the thousands of tourists who trek this way every ten years. One of her two sons lives here and took a prominent part in last year's play; the other lives in Munich and is therefore not eligible to the cast. Her daughter Mathilde, the wife of Anton Lang, made a name for herself in former years as a Passion Play artist.

Rutz continues active in public life, as a member of the village government and one of the Passion Play executive committee.

NEW GERMAN ARMYLIST CAUSES BRIEF

BERLIN, July 5.—Germany's first army list since 1914 has just been issued, and its diminutive proportions bear striking contrast to the fat volumes of pre-war days. It is the first time that one book has included the military forces of all Germany.

The shades of Bismarck, of the older von Moltke, and of other illustrious leaders, who made the name of German militarism a thing of awe, must shudder at the depopulations that have occurred since their day.

Up to 1914, the peace-time Regular army of the fatherland embraced some 600,000 men and officers, besides a host of reserves. During the late hostilities, this strength swelled at one time to more than 8,000,000. Then came the Treaty of Versailles, and at one sweep clipped the German army to 100,000. Ten thousand of this dwarfed array were permitted to be officers and members of the administrative personnel.

Gone are the general staff and all the high training institutions so long the pride of Prussia. Four small service schools are permitted, and these for officer candidates only. Gone, too, are whole branches of the service: The foot-artillery, aviation and the aircraft construction, the railway troops, and the great technical organization which attended to the soldiers' welfare and looked after the men on leave.

Princes and others of the higher nobility have completely disappeared from the officers' corps, and there are not as many horses, carriages, and so on as in the days of yore. A muster roll-call would sound strangely different from those of a decade ago.

Many of the "old guard" are reading the new list with tears in their eyes. Many a socialist and republican is reading it with a smile, as he recalls the hardships of the "matted feet" militarism in the old days when an emperor tenanted the great palace looking down Unter den Linden.

BANDITS PAY WITH LIVES FOR CRIMES

MEXICO CITY, July 5.—Summary vengeance has been exacted by the government for the attack on the inter-oceanic railway passenger train June 8 between Amozoc and Sanorel, near Puebla, in which two lives were lost. Five Indians, two of them residents of Amozoc, have been shot after summary court martial and 12 others, whose names were given by those executed as members of the band of robbers, are being harried through the mountains by numerous detachments of federal troops.

Photographs of the five dead robbers.

taken while the were falling under the bullets of the firing squad at the edge of the graves dug for them, have been distributed throughout the Matlatz mountain region as a warning against further similar outrages.

The fact that the Amozoc holdup was the first to mar the record of the Obregon administration for months prompted the government to take extreme steps.

EX-KAISER DOESN'T LIKE TO PAY TAXES

AMSTERDAM, July 5.—William Hohenzollern is quarreling with the Dutch over the payment of taxes. He is now engaged in a dispute with the municipal authorities of Doorn over the question of local assessments. The former German emperor refuses to pay, contending that the municipality is not entitled to its demand because he came to Holland under compulsion.

The Doorn city fathers maintain that he came there voluntarily, and have decided to enforce the law with retrospective effect.

The municipal council of Amerongen, where the former emperor resided the first year of his exile, has not been slow in following up the decision of the Doorn council, and proposes to submit its claim for arrears in taxes.

SOUTHERN NEGROES MIGRATING NORTH

COLEMBIA, S. C., July 5.—South Carolina, long a state in which the negro greatly outnumbered the white, is experiencing a decrease in its colored population that is gradually gaining in volume according to railroad and other officials in position to observe. One railroad official recently estimated that fully 22 per cent of the negro population of the state had left for northern points, and a newspaper in a recent article, estimated that for the first time in more than 100 years the white population of the state exceeded the negro.

Not only have scores of thousands of negroes left the state during the past year or more, but the number of women and children leaving is increasing, railroad officials state. At first only males left for the north. Now, however, many of those who went to the industrial centers early in the exodus are sending for their wives and families while many others are taking their women and children with them. Columbia apparently is a concentration point for considerable surrounding territory. Practically every day 100 or more leave from the railroad stations in this city, according to S. H. Mc-

Lean, district passenger agent for the Southern railway. "The negroes themselves are not inclined to discuss their plans to any great extent and make very little show in leaving," said Mr. McLean. "They usually do not buy their tickets at the uptown offices, waiting instead until a few minutes before train time when they purchase a ticket and then board the train and are gone." The majority of the negroes now leaving the state apparently are going to Pennsylvania with Philadelphia and Pittsburgh appearing to receive the majority, although many are going to Detroit, New York, Baltimore, Boston and Dayton.

ization. Much will also depend on whether the operators and the representatives of the miners meet with any delay in joint conference for the purpose of collective bargaining, and whether their meetings are conducted in a spirit of mutual accommodation, at all times mindful of the public interest. If both sides take up the issues in this spirit there will be no strike; the public will suffer no hardship and operators and miners alike will benefit by continuity of production.

Present indications, as observed by the committee and from information obtained from operators, miners and in government circles, are that in any event there will be a decline, if not an actual stoppage in operations, after August 31. Operators and miners alike believe that if there is a cessation of operations, it will be for no such duration as last year, when the mines were closed for nearly six months, and that the ultimate result will be a slight increase in the cost of coal to the consumer and a scarcity, although to a lesser degree of severity than that of last winter. Federal officials, while viewing the situation with deep concern, declare that no stone will be left unturned to prevent a cessation of operations.

Anthracite production for the first four months of the calendar year reached 12,000,000 tons, which is almost double the output during the corresponding period of last year when there was a large falling off because of the strike, and more than 5,000,000 tons above the average production for the last ten years. These figures do not mean so much, however, when it is taken into consideration that apart from the fact that there was no coal in storage at the mines at the beginning of the year and practically no coal in storage in the yards of the dealers or in the bins of the consumers—a situation without a parallel since the anthracite strike of 1902. In spite of this large production, the mines have been unable to put any coal in storage and the committee observed that as fast as the coal is being produced at the present time, it is being shipped out, with the exception of the steam sizes which heretofore have only been utilized to a very limited extent for domestic fuel.

The committee found that, based upon the distribution figures of the past five years, Massachusetts is slightly ahead of its average receipts.

CHALIFOUX'S SELF-SERVICE GROCERY LOCATED IN BASEMENT

For instance, the committee was informed that the Hudson Coal company—one of the largest companies shipping anthracite to New England, and the largest shipper over the Boston & Maine and Boston & Albany railroads, has obtained 83 per cent of its expected production since April 1, the beginning of the coal year. The company has been unable to reach the production it had anticipated because of a labor shortage. This company has shipped 35 per cent of the normal supply to Massachusetts, based on the expected production, which shows that Massachusetts received more than its proportionate allotment.

On April 1 of the present year, Massachusetts had only 181,887 tons of domestic anthracite on hand, as compared with 250,000 tons a year ago. During April and May, Massachusetts received 1,015,955 tons, according to the figures compiled by the State Commission on Necessities of Life, and the deliveries amounted to 57,700 tons, leaving a balance on hand, as of June 1, amounting to 324,187 tons.

During the coal year from April 1, 1921, to April 1, 1922, the total deliveries in Massachusetts amounted to 5,243,415 tons. Assuming that receipts during June, July and August this year will be at the same rate as during April and May of this year, Massachusetts can expect 1,500,000 more tons of anthracite before September 1. Adding the stock on hand on April 1, 1921, to the receipts for April and May of 1,015,955 tons, and the expected receipts for June, July and August of 1,500,000 tons, brings the total of 2,607,842 tons as the probable supply on hand in Massachusetts at the time of the expiration of the wage contract between the operators and miners. It will be seen that this supply will represent barely one half of the minimum requirements of the state for the winter months.

If after September 1 there is a decline in production, or a complete cessation of operations for any length of time, the people of Massachusetts will have to depend in part upon the use of substitutes if they are to keep their homes warm. As the committee has observed the situation and studied the problem, it has become impressed with the fact that the question of substitutes is rapidly becoming a paramount question in respect to the Massachusetts fuel supply, and in its work during the remainder of the year, expects to devote much of its attention to it. The committee has already been looking into the possibilities of securing screened and sized bituminous, which can come only by rail, has already inquired into the use of steam sizes of anthracite for domestic heating, and will devote attention to coke, oil and other fuels.

Steam sizes of anthracite coal, such as buckwheat and birdseye, have heretofore been used almost entirely for industrial purposes. In the mining of coal there must be a large quantity of small particles, particularly in the coal produced through the breakers. The committee is informed that every 100 tons of anthracite mined averages 48 tons domestic sizes and 52 tons steam sizes. In the power plants of the mines and for other local use, there is consumed about 10 per cent of all the anthracite produced. This 70 per cent consists for the most part of the finest screenings of the steam sizes. Out of every 100 tons of anthracite produced, therefore, about 22 tons of steam sizes must be disposed of in the market.

It costs the mine operators as much to produce the steam sizes of anthracite as it does to produce the domestic sizes. The market for these sizes comes into direct competition with bituminous, which is much more plentiful and can be much more cheaply mined and prepared for market. The result is that for the most part these sizes must be sold at less than the cost of production and often at less than the cost of labor alone. For instance, the Hudson Coal company has been mentioned. This company sells a "range" coal at the mines at $3.30 a ton, buckwheat coal No. 1 for $4.15 a ton, birdseye for $1.50 a ton, and coal dust for 55 cents a ton. Range coal is a coal for domestic use, being a combination of chestnut and pea sizes. Buckwheat No. 1 is the largest of the regular steam sizes. The cost of the labor on each ton of coal at the mines is stated to be about $1.00 a ton. It has been found that these steam sizes of coal which sell for considably less than the domestic sizes can be burned in certain types of heaters—a question which the committee is making a thorough study of—and that they can be burned in almost any type of heater by being mixed with larger sizes of anthracite or with coke. If consumers, in ordering their coal, would put in a larger two of steam sizes to mix with the domestic sizes, or to use in burning their fires at night, they would make a saving on their fuel bills and at the same time release more of the domestic sizes. In times of emergency such action becomes a patriotic duty in order to make possible an equitable distribution of the domestic sizes.

As to the so-called Massachusetts "pure coal law" which was passed by the last legislature upon recommendation of Governor Charles F. Cox, the committee made extensive inquiries to find, first, if the law was thoroughly understood by the operators and secondly, if the law would result in preventing shipments of anthracite into the state.

The committee found no evidence that to date the law had prevented any shipments of coal into Massachusetts by reputable companies or operators. The only concern of the operators interviewed seemed to be as to whether some bona fide attempt to attempt to unreasonably enforce the law. It was pointed out by the committee, however, that coal could only be confiscated under the law if found to be " unfit for ordinary use," and then only with the approval of the state department of public health.

One company operator in speaking of the Massachusetts pure coal law went so far as to say: "I have every sympathy for the people of Massachusetts and understand exactly the situation which prompted the passage of the pure coal law. I saw some of the stuff that was shipped into your state as coal, when the shipper knew that it was unburnable. In my opinion the state of Pennsylvania should be ashamed of itself for allowing a situation which made it either possible or necessary for a sister state to pass such a law. As to the men who shipped such stuff, they are the men who bring discredit upon the industry and upon the reputable operators, but like in all other industries, they are an extremely small minority."

It is impossible in this brief statement to bring out the mass of information obtained by the committee, or the many observations which it made during its trip which included the inspection of these collieries and a visit down into a mine where the miners were seen at their work 400 feet below the surface of the ground. Every detail that the members believed would assist them was looked into. They conferred with a number of operators, many miners and business men in the coal district, with the federal fuel distributor, with a member of the interstate commerce commission, and with the members of the United States coal commission. The fact that it was the first legislative body to ever visit the coal fields as a body was widely commented upon and it left the impression that Massachusetts wanted to know first hand the entire situation before attempting to discuss it.

The committee spent eight days in its investigations and conferences. It travelled through the hottest days of the summer, with the temperature ranging from 90 to 99 most of the time. In one working day of sixteen hours it started from Wilkesbarre at 8 a. m., inspected two collieries, spent two hours in a mine 450 feet beneath the surface of the ground, walked two and a half miles in that mine, interviewed men in Scranton, returned to Wilkesbarre, left by train and reached Washington on the same night, and it was not until after midnight that the members had a chance to clean the coal dust from their eyes, ears, noses and clothes. It might be added that of its appropriation of $2500, the committee has returned a balance of more than $500 into the state treasury.

The committee expresses the hope that both operators and miners will realize the importance of meeting together in friendly interchange of views, never forgetting the duty they owe to the great public whom they serve.

The committee is closely watching developments and will keep the public informed of the situation from time to time. It believes that its personal contact with the operators will result in obtaining maximum shipments of anthracite during the period before the expiration of the wage contract between the operators and miners and that Massachusetts will be in a much better position to face any emergency as a result of its efforts.

The committee consists of Senators John W. Bailey of Greenfield, chairman, John M. White of Waltham, and Charles F. Howard of Reading; Representatives Henry L. Shattuck of Boston, Vice Chairman, James D. Bentley of Swampscott, William F. Thomas, Jr., of Fall River, Gustave W. Everberg of Woburn, John Mitchell of Springfield and John H. Drew of Boston; and Wendell D. Howe of Boston, secretary.

HOLIDAY FIRE CALLS

Barn in Wannalancit Street Destroyed — Old Homestead in Pelham Burns

There were two fires of a disastrous nature yesterday, one in Pelham, N. H., when the old Blinham Wood homestead was destroyed, and the other in this city, when a barn owned by Mrs. Nellie J. Libby in the rear of 98 Wannalancit street, was burned to the ground. Other holiday alarms were for fires of a minor nature.

The Pelham fire originated in the large attic of the building, which is owned by Henry A. and Anna B. Wood and when discovered, flames were shooting through the roof. A general alarm was sounded through the town and assistance was summoned from Draught, but the efforts of both the Pelham and Draught departments and numerous volunteers proved fruitless and the set of buildings consisting of a large two-story house, barn, sheds and outhouses, was burned to the ground. Several tons of hay also were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $12,000.

The Wannalancit street fire was discovered shortly after 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning and an alarm was sent in from box 127. When the firemen arrived they found the barn ablaze and the home of Michael Dineen in Oliver street, in close proximity to the barn, being threatened. Although the barn was destroyed, the Dineen home was only slightly damaged.

Shortly before 10 o'clock last evening an alarm was sounded from box 116 for a fire in an unoccupied house in Cross street opposite St. Patrick's home. A few minutes later another alarm was sounded from box 118 for the same blaze. The blaze, which is believed to have been caused by a drunken man, was making great headway when the members of the department arrived and the interior of the building was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

A roof fire at 91 School street was responsible for the sounding of an alarm from box 15 at 3:51 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At 4:02 o'clock there was an alarm from box 115 for a blaze in an evening at 4:19 Moody street.

NEVEST WRAPS

A wrap that rivals the Spanish shawl is a cape of white crepe with floral embroidery in tiny colored bands. Lace and chiffon capes are also featured for substitution.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"Fools Moral," the Marshall Nathan attraction which is showing at The Strand for three days, beginning today, was written by Hugh McNair Kahler and appeared originally in the Saturday Evening Post. It is a story of contrast between the wealthy and the poor, with the conflict developing about the latter to create the former from part of his riches. The "fools" are the members of a band of robbers which endeavor to enrich themselves unlawfully at the expense of the rich. A bank is the objective and Waterbury of the band. When they are about to break into the bank they come across an old friend and companion who has previously turned straight. He has what they desire a package containing the money, and a struggle ensues between them to see who will retain possession of it. We can't tell you the result. The picture does that best.

"The Tiger's Claw," an exciting and mystic story of India, with a full quota of thrills and adventure, is the feature attraction of the current program at the Merrimack Square theatre. It's a photograph you can't afford to miss. The other attraction is "You Can't Fool Your Wife," a Melford production with Loretta Joy and an all-star cast. Don't forget the Merrimack Square is always cool and comfortable.

RIALTO THEATRE

with Dorothy Dalton co-starring. In this picture Valentino gets away from the "pink-ton" hero type and does a regular sea-going, rough and ready battle. Of course, at first he is seen in the role of a young society man, a scion of wealth. He is shanghaied on a schooner that has a murderous captain. Dorothy Dalton in the part of Moran is a daughter of the sea and handles the good ship "Lady Letty" like a veteran, until it becomes a delirious and falls into the hands of the tyrannical captain.

"Whispering Palms," a beautiful love story, filmed in the Everglades of Florida and starring Gladys Hulette is the other feature for today. A good comedy is also on the bill.

James Paulmore, Cooper's famous American classic, "The Last of the Mohicans," directed by Maurice Tourneur is announced as the feature picture for Friday and Saturday.

Local movie fans and lovers of the drama are elated over the announcement that Eugene Brion's famous stage success, "Damaged Goods," will be shown on the Rialto screen all next week starting Monday, with the original New York cast headed by Richard Bennett.

"Damaged Goods" is described as a stirring play for a pure life before and after marriage. Owing to the nature of the picture, it has been decided that boys and girls under 15 years of age will not be admitted during the run of the picture.

PARIS NOTES

magnet which attracted thousands of people, young, old and in between, to this familiar area, where the centralization of amusements found ready recognition. On the baseball field, along the sloped sidewalks and in other positions of vantage, more than 160 booths, displaying dolls, blankets, silverware and every describable novelty, did a wholesale business, while groups of freakish monstrosities in tented enclosures, claimed the attention of the curious. The hours the throng kept moving on its tour of inspection and at midnight it appeared that the entire community was participating in the joyous festivities. The men and women sales-people behind the stands bellowed continuously. They needed little ability to convince the holiday public "to take a chance," and time and again it became necessary to fill and refill the improvised structures with attractive articles.

But if the night before was memorable, yesterday and last night were more so. In the afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock in the South common bandstand the Lowell Military band, under the direction of James Midgely, filled the air with tuneful patriotic and popular melodies while the crowd continued on its eventful itinerary through the temporary streets.

Last night at 9:15 o'clock, the celebration reached its apex when the municipal fireworks display was set off near the junction of Highland and Thorndike streets. Long before that hour, unlimited and singing thousands gathered on the common slopes to view the cyclorama pictures of fame that illuminated the sky for nearly an hour.

The 359th Field Artillery band lent a musical accompaniment to the burning pyrotechnics while thousands of pairs of hands and a roaring babel of voices evinced satisfaction with noisy applause. There were vari-colored pin-wheels, sky rockets and aerial bombs, showers of flaming silver and gold, in short, a delightful affluence of inflammables, and while the display was not as elaborate as some witnessed in previous years, it evoked favorable commendation. The exhibition concluded with a miniature aerial battle with bombs bursting in air, a sprinkling of shooting atoms of fire, a nearly-perfect replica of a battle in the clouds, a huge, resounding explosion and it was all over. Thus the municipal recognition of the day was brought to a happy ending and the exodus from the common was begun. At the approach of the midnight hour, the thinning out process was practically completed and the little tented city listened to the 12 o'clock curfew, dimmed its lights and went to bed clothed in the blankets of happy memories until another year—365 days from yesterday—comes again.

All streets leading to the common were literally choked with humanity and motor cars. The number of machines moving about the common and parked within a half-mile radius was conservatively estimated at 10,000. Surely, it seemed as if every automobile in Massachusetts was there, as well as most of those registered in New Hampshire. Police officers were stationed every 50 yards to keep the unbroken line in motion. It was the greatest traffic congestion in the history of the city.

While the carefree were enjoying themselves on the common, a first aid

tent, under the jurisdiction of the board of health, was constantly awaiting the arrival of patients, the number of which was surprisingly but agreeably small. Public health nurses were in attendance every minute of the day and night, but did not have much to do. Yesterday one woman was overcome by the excitement and was given first aid treatment at the tent and several minor ailments were treated. Extra details of police, uniformed and plain clothed, patrolled the common during the midway hours. Few arrests were made.

AMERICAN WOMEN WARY

Are Not So Anxious Now
to Marry Penniless Barons
of Europe

BERLIN, July 5.—International matchmakers; the men and women who used to do a thriving business marrying off titles and high social position to wealthy plotters, have been hard hit by the war and the resultant financial distress. Marriage among humbler folks all over Europe has increased under the distress, but not so with the leaders of fashion.

June, the month of weddings, has not produced the large number of society weddings which always characterized the month in pre-war days. This is especially noticeable in central Europe. Fashionable churches, hotels, cafes, dressmaking shops, jewelry shops and flower shops do not show the old-time June activity.

Foreign tourists are not visiting central Europe in large numbers, and the residents of central Europe are not traveling abroad. The romances which used to begin on ocean trips are fewer and fewer. American and English women with comfortable fortunes are not wandering about as they did in old times. Travel is not so inviting as it used to be, and families from the lands of good exchange apparently have little desire to expose their daughters to the sort of tragedies which have grown out of many international marriages recently. Titles which carry with them bankrupt estates are apparently at a great discount. The uncertainty of titles to baronial possessions makes ambitious mothers hesitate. They have seen too many penniless princes and counts and barons scolding about Paris and other European capitals, trying to market their family tree.

But the professional matchmakers have not given up hope and are still active. Vienna has a number of such matrimonial agents who are hard at work, and with the revival of Vienna which has come about as the result of foreign assistance, their opportunities are improving. Vienna's old gaiety is coming back. Its fashions attract foreign women, and music-lovers flock to its opera. Tourists who visit Italy also go to Austria in large numbers. In Berlin commercial matchmakers are having a harder time. The decline in travel and upset political conditions work against them to a greater degree than in any of the other European capitals, and the failure of barons to push away makes it difficult to do anything with principals who were enemies in the great struggle.

One professional marriage agent, a titled woman who was once a great success in her profession, is constantly seen about the prominent hotels in Berlin, and she has not lost her ability to meet nearly all promising visitors. But she has collected a commission only once in the last twelve months. The agencies which advertise extensively and arrange marriages on a strictly business basis, without social trimmings, are faring far better than the agents who specialize in aristocrats. Throughout central Europe the daily papers are filled with the advertisements of marriage agencies which describe their clients in great detail, give their financial status and requirements, leaving only the names unmentioned.

LINCOLN STATUE TO BE UNVEILED

CHICAGO, July 5.—Illinois will soon again pay honor to Abraham Lincoln through the erection of a statue of the emancipator, cast almost 20 years ago by Augustus St. Gaudens, who died shortly after the work was completed. Strange as it may seem, Chicagoans have never had an opportunity of seeing the statue, although it has been in this city almost continuously since it was cast.

While the nation honored Lincoln last year with the erection of the Lincoln Memorial at Washington, and there is a monument with a sarcophagus effect now over the final resting place of the martyred president at Springfield, the St. Gaudens statue will be the first of Lincoln to be erected in his home state.

This statue, completed in 1905, has been stored in a shelter house in Jackson park here, awaiting final action by the South park commissioners as to its location. They have about come to the conclusion to place it in Grant park, on the lake front.

The casting of the statue was made possible through a bequest of the late John Crearer, who made many such bequests looking toward the beautification of the city and perpetuation of the memory of the state's famous sons. He gave $100,000 for the casting and upkeep of the statue.

The statue has been on exhibition once in New York, and again in San Francisco, but each time was returned to Chicago, boxed and has never been exhibited here. It shows Lincoln in a sitting position and is said to be one of the sculptor's best work.

AUSTRIANS DRINK
MUCH LESS WINE

VIENNA, July 5.—By the Associated Press—Wine growers and wine sellers in Austria are alarmed at a recent notable reduction in the consumption of their wares. They are loud in their complaints, and they inundate parliament with proposals for help.

The principal causes of the falling off in the consumption of wine would seem to be, first, the exorbitant prices asked by both producers and innkeepers, and second, the conditions of unemployment and half-time employment still reigning in the country. There have converted the wine lover performance into a water drinker.

A MENACE TO LABOR

The American Federation of Labor executives are calling attention to a serious development in connection with discussions of the coming wage problems affecting the mining of anthracite coal after September 1 next.

A development approaching the sensational comes in an announcement of action by the International Board of the United Mine Workers of America, the coal miners' union, of a similar scheme, connected in Moscow, to form a communistic organization in the southwestern coal fields of the United States, drawing to themselves the worst elements in industrial America, having, for their purpose, it is alleged, first, the control and later the destruction of the trade union organization.

The United Mine Workers declare that the band of self-styled socialistic industrial crusaders—the communists—classifying themselves under the high-sounding title of the "Progressive International Committee of the United Mine Workers of America," they are, without warrant for their acts, have undertaken from time to time to meet in secret conclave and, and the enthusiasm which always prevails in the adoption of resolutions, have "highly resolved" to assume control of the United Mine Workers' union and direct its affairs.

American labor, as always, leads the way in patriotic causes and this campaign on the part of the A. F. of L. to combat the Red elements that are menacing national prosperity as well as American trade unionism of the first class, is worthy of attention at this time. The warning sent out by the Federation heads shows that the developments of the month indicate that European labor is slipping away towards the Red revolutionary standards in a movement which, from this distance, looks like a rout, as the Federation official bulletin puts it. Even the British labor delegates to the recent Hamburg congress were committed to the so-called "Second International" viewpoint, including a pledge to support the international revolutionary strike, so-called.

American workmen, loyal to their country and its ideals, will support, of course, the recent A. F. of L. declaration that Americans are anxious to help European labor, but will not join with any organization or movement that seeks to compromise with the monstrosity of Bolshevism. That is the right stand to take and it should be followed by every true friend of labor in the United States.

THE CARMEN'S SIDE

Little that was not already known before has thus far been brought out at the Eastern Street Railway wage arbitration proceedings, now being carried on at the state house. The employees' side has been heard, various representative employees having been summoned to testify concerning present working conditions, wages, soaring costs of living and expenditures. In no case has the testimony introduced by Attorney Vahcy, counsel for the men seeking more money for their arduous daily labors, been sensational.

The employees have testified abundantly that the high cost of living has worked against them in trying to live decently and obtain a fair return from their labors. Some of the men testified, day after day, that they found little time for ordinary recreation and even with this working period, found the extra day's wages did not bring any relief from a continual battle to pay personal and household expenses and "make both ends meet."

One witness declared emphatically that he had never found any fault with the eastern management or its treatment of its employees who performed faithful work, but wages are not enough to live comfortably upon, it was added.

"We would like a little more money for some of the ordinary demands of living and supporting a family," declared one street railwayman.

High rents, mounting expenses along the lines of both food and wearing apparel, stiffer costs for other necessities of life—all these reasons were given by most of the witnesses, frankly testifying at the same time, that they were not complaining at the state house.

There was no argument, it is to be noted, at any time. The men who testified were selected from various walks of street railway life from different sections of the eastern territory, and all told practically the same story— they want "a little more money" at the end of the week with which to buy necessary things to consume, their own and family comforts and support of the decent fruits of home life. In a time when prosperity is sliding over a land of two people.

FOR A DISTRICT COURT BUILDING

Our city government, committed to a policy of retrenchment and economy, does not feel inclined to spend nearly $100,000 for improvements on the old Market street building in order to provide suitable quarters for the local district court.

In this the government is fully justified, particularly for the reason that it is the duty of the county to provide the necessary quarters for the municipal court. The county committee, however, plead a lack of funds, but although this may be justified at the moment, it is not a convincing reason why the county should fail to do for Lowell what it has done for several other cities where the necessity was certainly no greater than in this city.

It would seem that Commissioner Barlow should be able to secure such a building for Lowell. If there is a shortage in the county funds and if the borrowing limit has been reached, the county can solve the problem by selling the local jail and using the funds for the erection of a district court building.

A Case in Point

A tall grown person, quills and all, dropped from an overhanging tree directly into the bay from which the first Sunday of Easter, Wash. was fishing. The Rev. Thoughts of You

When the clouds were fleeting,
Black overhead,
And when the hours were creeping,
Sorrow and dread,
Paint over my spirit stealing,
Darkness and blue,
Ghosts of the past revealing,
Come thoughts of you.

Of when the sun was beaming,
Glowing with light,
When all the earth was seeming,
Thrilled with delight,
And when in travail teeming,
Quickly hours flew,
Out of past's window streaming,
Come thoughts of you.

Now as the stars are gleaming,
Rays down to earth,
And the fair moon is beaming,
Sweetly with mirth,
Out from the distance reaching,
Come to me, my love,
Gleaming from your soul, beaming,
Kind thoughts of you.

ENGLISH RATE RAISED

Bank of England Announces Jump From 3 to 4 Per Cent Level

LONDON, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Bank of England today raised its rate to 4 per cent from 3 per cent level which had prevailed for a year.

The chief reason for the increase is to bring the official rate more in line with the United States, where money for some time has ruled only one and one half per cent above London's.

The bank situation also was evident in the minds of the bank directors when they decided to impose a higher rate on trade.

The increase caused little surprise as experts generally have been moving rapidly towards such action.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Just a word about the man who takes the pictures for this paper. His name is Rupert Billings, but we call him "Pat" and we think he likes us better for it. Anyway, "Pat" is some photographer and can snap a picture from any angle and under all circumstances. He can handle a camera with skillful expertness and knows the mechanism of his instrument from a to z. Mr. Billings is a graduate of the Vermont grammar, Lowell high and Lowell Textile schools, and specializes in newspaper photography with the Harr Engraving company.

Sergeant Timothy J. Kimball, local army recruiting officer, has received a letter from Ernest Pelletier, a Lowell boy, who enlisted through the local office more than a year ago. Pelletier is now connected with the Fifth Infantry and is stationed at Camp Devens for the summer. The letter is quite a boost to him in the regular army. Pelletier says, "I want to thank you for the truth you told me about the army. I have had a good time and I don't regret it a bit. I am company bugler and play a drum in the band. I am a civilian. I never had a side, but now I am qualified as a sharpshooter, both slow and rapid fire, on the 200, 300, 500 and 600 yard range, record course. We are all well fed and have good bunks to sleep in and do not have too much drilling. I like it very much and guarantee that any young man joining the infantry is wise." Pelletier was only a boy when he signed up and he is now learning to be a first class musician in the Fifth Infantry band, recognized as the leading army band in this section. Sgt. Kimball, in making this letter public, says it is one of the finest boasts he has ever received as a recruiting sergeant, as it gives a clear conception of what army life really offers to young men today.

Health teaching has become so generally associated with academic instruction in the United States, that a French teacher, instructing French youths in the English language in France, has combined health teaching with the language instruction as a matter of course. This is the case with the American Child Health association from M. Emile Guion, instructor, at Cherbourg, France. M. Guion wrote to tell of the favorable way in which his students had adopted the health instruction work as outlined in text books. In addition to being given the health instruction in the English language, which fulfills the requirements of the English lesson, the students gain a subsidiary knowledge in health. Thus in learning two subjects in one, according to M. Guion, the members of the class take a greater interest in their work than they otherwise would.

The property owners on Salisbury beach between the centre and the jetty at the mouth of the Merrimack are agitating to have the excursion steamers restored to the river from Haverhill to the beach. This steamer made regular trips during the summer season 25 years ago and carried many people from Haverhill to the beach. The line was discontinued, however, when the beach was burned down and to make matters still worse, the tide undermined the landing so that the whole structure was swept away. The Beach Association are now considering the possibility of having the beach restored to the river. BIG MINE IN DANGER

Act of Striking Miners in Sydney May Cause Complete Flooding

SYDNEY, S. C., July 5.—The refusal of striking miners on picket duty today to allow fuel to be transported to boiler rooms supplying steam for pumps, it is expected before many hours have passed, will cause the complete flooding of one of the Cape Breton mines, the largest in Canada. This is the first mine to be reported affected in this way.

Officials of the Dominion Coal Co., and the British Empire Steel corporation admitted that the general strikes called in protest against the presence of federal troops and provincial police, was 100 per cent effective.

More Soldiers on Route WINNIPEG, Man., July 5.—A detachment of 250 militiamen passed through here last night, en route to Sydney, N. S., from Camp Hughes, Man. It was said the soldiers were to be used in maintaining order in Cape Breton where a coal and steel strike is on.

PLENTY OF FREIGHT CARS AVAILABLE WASHINGTON, July 5.—In spite of very heavy traffic encountered on railroads during the spring and summer, car shortage is non-existent, the American Railway Association reported today, and on June 22, railroads had $8,070 surplus cars, in good repair but not in use.

Although 4260 coal cars were in the surplus classification, 5076 were sought by shippers at various points where they could not be immediately furnished.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

Baseball History

I've seen Babe Ruth when he hung 'em out For many and many a circuit clout, I've seen Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb, too, Performing wonders that thrilled me through; But the greatest kick that I ever got Came from a game on the home-town lot, When we hung on our rivals the Indian sign By a score of fifty to forty-nine.

From two till six of a summer's day We battled on in a bitter fray, And the crack of bats was a fusillade As we played, and played, and played, and played, Except for the times when we had to wait Till the crowd quit fighting around the plate; For our sporting ethics were none too fine, When we won by fifty to forty-nine!

I pitched till my arm was wrenched and sore, Allowing just seventy hits—no more; While the other twirler, as I recall, Was socked for a hundred and ten in all! The errors? Get this into your nut— The game was errors and nothing but! Yet, oh the thrill of my life was mine When we won by fifty to forty-nine! (Copyright, 1923, The Lowell Sun)

DOCK STRIKE GROWING DEATHS AND INJURIES

Some English Ports Seriously Affected, Strikers Now Totaling 30,000

LONDON, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The unofficial dock strike has been extended until it involves nearly 30,000 men. Of this number, some 14,000 are in London; the others are scattered among Hull, Cardiff, Barry, Bristol, Grimsby and some of the smaller ports. Liverpool, Southampton and Swansea have not been affected, and although most of the large London docks are involved the employees under the authority of the port of London are still loyal.

The strike is causing serious inconvenience, especially in the handling of food supplies.

SPECIAL FEATURE AT THE KASINO Tomorrow night and Saturday night, the Kasinon Thorndike street, which found ready favor with July patrons, will present that famous vaudeville trio, Morty Maguire, Eddie Doraine, and Eddie Centre, in a series of song selections, accompanied by Campbell's orchestra. This trio, known as the Codomar trio, has proved its popularity in this city on several past occasions and are prepared now to present their latest interpretations of the songs of the day. General dancing will be in order during the evenings of Friday and Saturday. The Kasino is cool and comfortable.

IMPROVEMENTS AT POSTOFFICE COMPLETE Alterations at the postoffice will be finished within the immediate future, according to Postmaster Xavier Delella, who stated today that the carrier's equipment now located in the basement, would be transferred to the second floor on Saturday in order that there would be no interruption of service. The changes made at the postoffice will cost approximately $25,000, the interior of the second floor to be used by the carrier's as a sorting room has been finished in white to lighten the room and lessen the eye strain on employees. A new stamp and parcel post window has been completed on the main floor.

RECRUITED MEN ON SOUTH COMMON Sergt. Timothy J. Kimball, recruiting officer of the U. S. army, was in charge of an army recruiting tent on the South common while the midway was in session. Sergt. He succeeded in getting 11 men to sign applications for the organized reserves, two for the citizens' training camp and two for the regular army.

SEeks FORMATION OF LIONS CLUB George A. Wood of Nahant, field director of the Lions' club, incorporated, visited Lowell Tuesday for the purpose of interesting business men in his organization. Mr. Wood visited with Secretary Geo. Wells of the chamber of commerce and inquired as to the possibilities of forming a Lions' club in Lowell. Clubs have recently been formed in Portland and Bangor, Me., and Manchester, N. H.

HUGE BONFIRE MARKS HEIGHT OF FOURTH CELEBRATION AT NORTH CHELMSFORD

HUGE PILE WHICH MADE BONFIRE

North Chelmsford celebrated the Fourth in a grand and glorious manner that will not be forgotten by the residents of that town for many years to come.

At 8 o'clock on the "night before" program were the bonfire which had been arranged by the Sillesia mill management, and the midway and carnival on the playgrounds which furnished the large crowd with opportunities for enjoyment. Hundreds of machines were packed near Sillesia park, and thousands of people came via electric cars, making the crowd the largest seen in North Chelmsford in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Agent Bernard F. Gilmore was the man responsible for the "big time" and, with his assistant, John R. Moran, were on the job every minute and made the affair a huge success in every way. The midway kept open during the Fourth and the crowds kept coming all day long.

In the afternoon the big attraction was the ball game between the Sillesia mill team and the Arlington mill team. A game between these teams had been played in the morning at Lawrence, resulting in victory for Sillesia by a 6-2 score, and the afternoon game was also a victory for Sillesia, this time by a score of 11 to 7.

Following the baseball game, a program of sports for the younger people of the town was run off. The midway remained open until late last night and before closing practically every booth was sold out.

MINOR FIRES

The crew of Engine 6 got away to a flying start shortly after midnight, following the close of Lowell's safe and sane fourth by responding to a telephone alarm from a roof fire at 3 Cross street. A still alarm was sent in for an interior fire at 46 Butler avenue shortly after 11 o'clock this morning and at 11:54 box 64 was sounded for a roof fire on a Third street residence.

SELLS-FLOTO CIRCUS GLITTERING AIRWAY

Midget monkeys and towering, richly robed elephants, the stir of the marching hosts of men and beasts and the swelling chorus of a thousand voices, wee clown doggies and file upon file of stately horses—tribal groups from the deserts and lavishly gowned American beauties—surely the opening spectacle of the Sells-Floto circus, "A Night in Persia," which will be seen at the Lowell Fair Grounds on Friday, July 13, is filled with contrasts, just as is the circus itself. And perhaps it is, in striking contrast—the thunder of racing herds of pachyderms here, and the flash of somersaulting spangled figure there—that the circus retains its hold upon our hearts.

This is the block of stock which the trustees of the Boston Railroad Holding Co. by a decree of the federal court in New York issued on June 4, were ordered to deliver to the New Haven railroad, subject to the provisions of the statutes of Massachusetts. THE BEST OF ALL MEDICINES, SAYS LOWELL MAN

Dreco Relieves Kidney and Liver Trouble —Driving Away Gastritis and Constipation

It is strange that people will disregard the early symptoms of stomach trouble and wait till they are down sick, unable to attend to their duties. Stomach disorders lead to a long train of other troubles. The liver, kidneys and bowels are closely allied with the stomach and soon become affected.

Mr. Albert Wheeler, well known in Lowell and the vicinity, says:

"My stomach was in bad shape. Gas would form, causing the food I ate and causing belching and suffering. I felt bloated and acid rising from my stomach made me feel terrible.

"My liver and kidneys became affected, my system being clogged by the poisonous backwash of constipation. Each day I felt worse. The suffering was unbearable; then I started taking Dreco.

"This wonderful medicine improved my condition, and after the third bottle all traces of my troubles disappeared. I feel clean and healthy inside. My stomach digests everything I eat without cramping and causing suffering. My kidneys and liver are in fine shape.

"I'll tell you Dreco has made a new man out of me, and what it has done for me it can do for everyone else."

The proper medicine for such a rundown condition is not harsh mineral drugs and cathartics. Not only relief, but sound common-sense points instead to those good, old-fashioned remedies of the vegetable kingdom—herbs, barks, roots and leaves, such as grandmother herself used to brew and use in the days when doctors were few and hard to reach and before now-fangled drugs and diseases became the fashion.

Call today at Green's Drug Store and ask to talk with the expert from the Dreco Laboratories. He will gladly tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. Also he will honestly tell you whether or not he thinks Dreco will benefit you. Also Dreco is sold in Nashua by Nashua Drug Co., 175 Main St. Adv.

Alkali in Soap Bad for Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and gets anything else all in pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily.

The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, lively, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 5.—Confusing movement in the stock market today. The opening of today's stock market, led by steel, Baldwin, Standard Oil and American Can all opening fractionally higher while United Fruit, the advanced 10 and Steel and United Fruit dropped a point or more. Other falls also were heavy.

Additional new minimum prices for the year were established by New York, Delaware & Hudson, Postum, General Foods, American Agricultural Chemicals and Corn Products, the latter ranging from 1 to 2 1/2 points. Other falls also were heavy.

Canadian Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line and Erie Railroad all made a point or more. Pan-American, B. O. P., Postum, General Foods, and United Fruit all dropped. Foreign exchanges opened lower, demand sterling establishing a new low for the year at $155.18.

Speculators hope that the day after the holiday would witness a turn for the better in securities, foreign exchange and commodity markets, was dispelled during the morning, when the recovery movement in all these increased momentum. High grade railroad shares were pressed for sale in a manner that indicated forced liquidation. Jersey Central broke 1/2 point, Delaware & Hudson 1 and Canadian Pacific 2 1/2. Weakness also was apparent in the steel, motor equipment and food stocks, many of which sold 1 to 2 points lower. Today's closing levels. Nearly two score stocks had established new low records for the year before noon, including United Fruit, Standard Oil, American Locomotive, new stocks, Western Union, Pacific Oil, Union Pacific and St. Paul preferred. Call money opened at 1 1/2 per cent. Clearing up of weak spots seemed to have been thorough during the course of the drastic decline of the morning, the market thereupon rising strongly under vigorous bidding for both accounts. Representative shares like U. S. Steel, Gulf States Steel, Baldwin, Corn Products, American Locomotive, Western Union, Standard Oil, Union Pacific and Canada Pacific sold 1 to 2 points above their earlier low prices. The Pan-American, Standard Oil and B. O. P. were pushed up 1 to 1 1/2 beyond Tuesday's final figures.

The closing was firm. The rally continued to the end, several of the leaders holding on to two points above Tuesday's final quotation. Sales approximated 775,000 shares.

WAFFLES AND TENT GO UP IN FLAMES

At 11:20 o'clock last night, with only 40 minutes to go before the South Common mid-winter fair was due to fall, the concession stand for the manufacture and sale of waffles, located near the wading pool, went up in flames. For a few minutes it looked as if a serious conflagration might result, but bystanders aided the proprietor in throwing water and sand on the fire, and it was snuffed out on the spot where it originated.

"I wouldn't have sold very many waffles, anyway," philosophically remarked the concession holder, and added, "this makes my getaway easier."

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 16

As soon as the Bad Giant had walked close enough, Jack reached out and prodded the hornet's nest with his stick. Then he quickly crawled inside the tower house. Immediately there was a grand scramble as the hornets started swarming around the Bad Giant. Jack watched them with much interest.

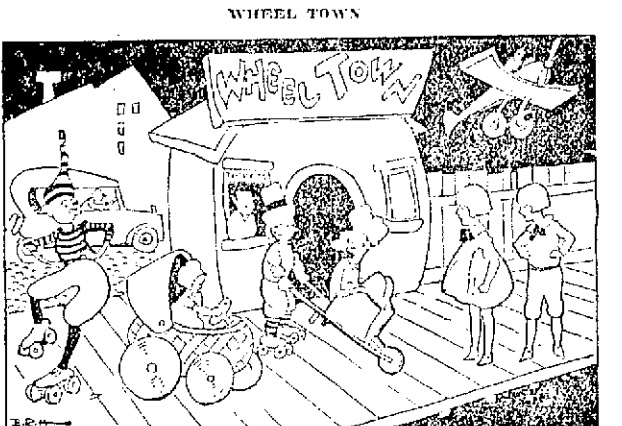

It wasn't long before the stinging hornets became too much for the Bad Giant and he let go of the tower pole and started to run. The hornets followed him as he went tearing through the woods and Jack came out of the tower house just as the tower pole fell saugly against the limb of a tree.

As the Bad Giant finally disappeared, Jack decided that it was safe for him to climb out of the tree. As he reached the ground he heard the bushes rustle nearby and there, right beside him, stood little Trixie's pet kangaroo. And Trixie and Cumber were with him. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

OVER THE STATION WERE THE WORDS, "WHEEL TOWN," IN LARGE GOLD LETTERS.

"Well, of all things!" exclaimed Nancy as she looked out of the window of the Choo Choo Express as it slowed up at another station in Choo Choo Land.

Nick looked out of the window and saw what Nancy saw. A town where all the people were going around on anything but their feet.

Soma were on bicycles, some rode on automobiles or street cars, some skated on roller skates, some rode on kiddie cars and the babies rode in perambulators as babies should, of course.

Over the station were the words, "Wheel Town," in large gold letters. "All out!" called Mister Punch the conductor.

So Nancy and Nick scrambled down off the train and went in search of Ruby Jean, the lost rag doll.

"Well, ask the first person you see," said Nick. "But everybody seems to be in such a hurry, no one is standing still a minute."

Just then a workman on roller skates who was pushing a wheelbarrow new with a load of bricks in it, tripped and fell. Away went the wheelbarrow, bricks and all.

"Please, sir, did you see Ruby Jean, my rag doll?" asked Nancy.

"Begorra and I didn't," answered the Irishman. "But, faith, whoever Ruby Jean is, your names will be Dennis if you don't get off those feet of yours at once."

He scrambled up and grabbed his empty wheelbarrow. "Here, jump in," he cried. "And I'll take you wherever you want to go. We are not allowed to walk on our feet in Wheel Town. The Twins jumped in as he said.

"Please take us back to the station then," said Nick, thanking him.

"Ruby Jean isn't here, I'm sure. She couldn't walk even so how could she skate?"

Mister Punch was so surprised he nearly fell over when he saw them coming.

"That's a fine taxi!" he called. (To Be Continued.)

Immigrants on the S. S. Giulio Cesare salute the State of Liberty as the vessel steams into New York harbor. It was one of 11 boats carrying more than 12,000 immigrants which stood outside the harbor until midnight of the last day of the old quota period and then raced to insure acceptance of the passengers at Ellis Island before the new quota was exhausted. Inset are Tony and Angelo, future Americans, unconcernedly eating "pie" as the dramatic race is run.

BOY SCOUTS TO CAMP AT ISLAND POND

Over 100 Boy Scouts are expected to attend the annual encampment of Lowell troops to open at Island Pond, Pelham, N. H., July 19, according to an announcement from Scout Executive Edwin J. Melton. The Island Pond location for the camp was decided upon by scout executives after inspecting several proposed sites, because of its many advantages for land and water sports and life in the open. The lake affords good fishing, boating and swimming.

Mr. Melton has received word from army base headquarters in Boston that a shipment of 25 tents and other army equipment will be sent to this city for the use of scouts. The American Red Cross will provide an expert life guard, who in addition to protecting the youngsters, will teach them to swim. An extensive program of drills, sports and instruction in scout activities has been planned by those in charge of the camp.

OF Columbia University
Soak six medium-sized tomatoes, peel and cut a thin slice from the top of each. Remove a part of the inside, leaving quite a thick wall. Sprinkle with salt, invert the tomatoes and drain.

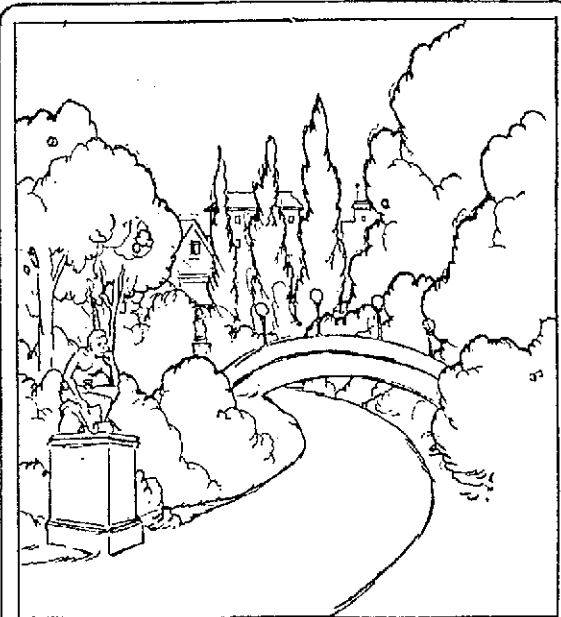

Cut stale bread into small dice-shaped pieces until half a cup is obtained. Fry the dice in two table-spoons salad oil. Add to this one tablespoon chopped green pepper, one-half cup chopped cucumber, and one-fourth cup French dressing, which should be well seasoned with an addition of onion to flavor it.

Chill this and at serving time stuff the tomatoes with the mixture. Place a spoonful of mayonnaise on the top of each and serve on lettuce or water-cress.

Stoning raisins will not be such a sticky job if you put a little butter on your fingers.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS LESS IRELAND TODAY BANK TELLER SUICIDE IS TRANQUIL

Housegirls Scarce in State— Big Demand for Skilled Metal Workers

BOSTON, July 5.—The state public employment office reported that applicants in June were 10 per cent. fewer than in May and 29 per cent. fewer than in June of last year. The number of persons called for by employers decreased 20 per cent. from May and seven per cent. from June, 1922.

The greatest demand for male skilled workers was in the metal trade. There was a good demand for unskilled laborers and farm workers.

In the women's skilled department the principal demand was for summer hotel work, with only a moderate supply of capable applicants. Housework girls are still very scarce and the demand has been far in excess of the supply.

Governor-General of Free State Says it is as Peace- ful as England

Government is Now Releas- ing About 300 Irish Pris- oners Each Week

LONDON, July 5.—"Ireland today is as tranquil as Great Britain," said Timothy Healy, governor-general of the Irish Free State, in an interview with the Daily Express, prior to his return to Ireland, last evening after conversations with imperial authorities regarding Irish affairs.

The governor-general said that the government was intensely preoccupied with how to terminate a situation in which to its sorrow, it found itself still holding 10,000 Irishmen. The government's purpose, he said, was to release their prisoners as rapidly as possible without exposing the public to a recurrence of disorder, and they are now being freed at the rate of about 300 weekly.

DEAF MUTE PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO LARCENY

Edgar Pelky, deaf and dumb, in writing pleaded not guilty in the district court this morning to the larceny of an automobile from Paul Turcotte of Lawrence. The case was peculiar in that the court had to resort to written correspondence to secure the defendant's testimony. Pelky is alleged to have removed Turcotte's Ford truck from its stall in Mahoney's garage in Fourth street and sold the machine for $15 to John S. Seymour. He gained admittance to the garage, according to Inspector John Walsh, by breaking the lock on the door.

When Seymour bought the machine, he cut off the truck body. Turcotte said it would cost over $200 to replace it. The car itself was worth about $60, he said. In order to allow further investigation, the case was continued until tomorrow, bonds being fixed at $200.

They have engines of 200 horse power, with an average speed of 100 miles an hour.

PROGRESS MADE ON MEXICAN MATTERS

MEXICO CITY, July 5.—By the Associated Press—It was stated authoritatively today that "very gratifying progress" has been made by the American and Mexican commissioners recently in clarifying the views of the two governments on Mexico's petroleum and navigation policies.

Agreement has been reached on more than two-thirds of the questions at issue, although the remaining third contains some of the most important points.

The conference will not continue beyond July 14, except to clear up final details.

What Do They Say?

WHEN the car drives away and your guests have all gone, what do they say? Is it, "What a beautiful home—the piazza was so cool and cozy—the furniture is in such good taste!"

Expensive furniture is not necessary to form such an opinion in the hearts of your friends. The secret lies in "the art of selection." That "art" is most readily obtained by furnishing your porch from our large display of Rattan, Willow and Hickory—furniture which bears the stamp of Adams quality.
